Consolidation Runs into Criticism By Townspeople at Public Meetings

Consolidation was questioned, explored and discussed in a pair of public meetings last week – one Thursday night in the North Harrison Street firehouse and one Saturday morning in the firehouse on Chestnut Street.

The meeting-places were symbolic: in 1953, when voters rejected consolidation, Princeton's volunteer fire companies were in the vanguard of opposition.

Thursday night's audience seemed more critical, more "con," and Saturday morning's group less so.

At its meeting next Thursday, May 31 (7:30 p.m., Borough Hall), the Consolidation Study Commission will discuss the projection of tax rates that is the final part of the fiscal analysis.

Then, on June 7 – or possibly May 31, if the fiscal discussion is finished in time – the Commission will start to talk about whether to recommend consolidation or not. This discussion may be continued to the June 14 meeting

If the Commission decides to recommend consolidation – and Borough critic Charles Cornforth said at Saturday's meeting, "It will be the greatest miracle since Bible days if you recommend against it" – it will then spend June 21 discussing what form of government the newly-constituted Princeton should have. The final report is due August 7, and if the recommendation is atfirmative, the intervening weeks will be taken up with transitional matters.

Thursday's speakers expressed concern about adequate police protection, especially in the Borough; whether a bigger community would mean less responsive government and cost effectiveness.

After the public session, the Commission agreed to study school regionalization in response to citizens who said school merger had meant higher costs and, in the opinion of some, a reduced quality of education. Nicholas Van Dyke, commission member, was asked to find out how the number of administrators today compares with the number before school merger.

When Commission members, on Thursday, said consolidation would bring "no great savings – perhaps $100,000 over a five-year period," Bettie Schrader commented, "I think $100,000 is a lot of money."

"My vote will go on whether it's cheaper," declared Jack Larson. "You should spell this out."

On Saturday, Commissioner Peter Bearse said that consolidation will mean "lack of harm, more than actual financial benefit, so far as we can tell." He is co-chairman of the fiscal committee.

"But an increase in services is possible – like better police communications – without more cost," suggested Commissioner Charlotte Gipson, and her colleague, James Floyd, pointed out that the way it is now, Borough and Township police can't communicate with one another through their respective police radios.

To the worry expressed Saturday by Mark Jones that Borough police protection might be diluted, Commissioner Arthur Morgan said police would be more efficient than now, and would continue to work in shifts, as they do currently.

Citizens, School Board Begin Search For New Principal for Princeton High

A combination of Abraham Lincoln, Joan of Arc, Moses, Jesus– and a dash of Einstein and Mme. Curie wouldn't hurt, either. That's just what's needed in a new principal for Princeton High School, it was decided this week.

At two meetings, a public session on Monday and a school board meeting Tuesday, Princeton citizens sat around and talked about what the community should seek in a new principal. (Meanwhile, some Princeton High students aren't happy at the procedures for transferring Principal George Petrillo to another school. See "Mailbox," page 17.)

Monday, Superintendent Paul Houston divided about 20 citizens into two groups to exchange ideas, then get together and exchange the groups' ideas.

Dr. Houston and David Myers, director of secondary education, explained first of all what a principal's duties are. He – and it was nailed down right from the start that it may well be "she" – does essentially the same work as an assistant principal but is the decision-maker at the school. Staff growth, curriculum, discipline are all in the principal's work day, but above all is the quality of leadership.

Ben Wright, who has been head of the Parent Teacher Organization this year, along with his wife, started things off by saying:

"I'd hate to require a Ph.D., and find ourselves with two absolute schlucks, and yet in this egghead community you do need an advanced degree . . ." and a staff member added, "some of the high school staff have doctorates."

It was almost taken for granted that a principal should get along with kids – "relate to" was the most frequently-used term. One speaker brushed off kids as being "easy."

"It's the faculty that's going to be difficult," he continued. "It's mature, time-weathered, set in its ways. We need masterful faculty leadership: a leader, diplomat, inspirer to give the faculty inspiration for the next decade." He paused, then added; "A wizard."

Two members of the high school staff said the principal would indeed require understanding and skill to deal with a senior, experienced staff, and another added that a principal should "inspire the motivation of both kids and faculty toward excellence."

A principal should believe that alternative programs are a healthy thing, was one comment, and should promote flexibility in courses and programs. The principal should be someone with an area of intellectual interest, an alive intellect, was another.

One woman said she felt it was important to have a principal with "a strong moral character, a person everybody can count on and look up to" and that's when somebody said "Abraham Lincoln."

Dr. Houston's study of the high school showed that the proportion of black students in classrooms was low in comparison to their numbers in the school; in short, white kids were apparently being held to rules about attending class and black students were not, one citizen pointed out. Perhaps a principal with a background in an urban school would know how to meet the problem and how to motivate black kids. It was suggested that minority students be asked for ideas.

Burning of Sludge and Garbage Urged as Source of Energy

Steve Slaby, associate professor of civil engineering at Princeton University, has been studying the possibility of putting the old sewer plant on River Road to use again. Last week, he came before the Joint Environmental Commission with a suggestion that won sufficient support so that the members asked Mr. Slaby to round up some preliminary figures on costs.

Mr. Slaby knows the old sewer plant well. When he first came to Princeton in the early 1950's, he supplemented his University income by working part time with I. Russel Riker and Arthur Brokaw, both former Borough engineers, as a consultant on the plant's operation and on the design for enlarging it. He was also the Township representative on the Joint Sewer Operating Committee for a number of years.

He prefaced his remarks to the Environmental Commission by saying, "We taxpayers have a fantastic capital investment in the old sewage treatment and incinerator plant. The question is what to do with it." The plant was built in 1930-31, and the concrete "all seems solid" in the three furnaces and the settling tanks, he says.

Mr. Slaby points out that the new sewage treatment plant built and run by the Stony Brook Sewer Authority is "very costly" to operate and takes, he thinks, some 60 gallons of oil per hour on certain days to heat sludge to the point where it is combustible. These costs will not go down, he asserts, despite the expected tie-ins with West Windsor and South Brunswick, because fuel costs will continue to rise.

In addition, he says, Princeton is paying money to compact garbage to truck it to landfill sites that are rapidly filling up. The Sewer Operating Committee currently has some half million gallons of leftover sludge to dispose of. The Authority has agreed to take care to 50 percent of this in the new plant, and the SOC will dry the remaining 50 percent in its old greenhouse and open-air drying beds, which Mr. Slaby says are very inefficient.

In Mr. Slaby's plan, this sludge and sludge from the new plant would be transferred by gravity feed down to the old plant where it would be dried in a more efficient solar drying device located on the old filter bed. Reduced to 30 to 40 percent solid matter, the sludge would then be conveyed up to the incinerator plant, mixed with garbage and burned (merely by igniting some of the paper in the garbage) in a boiler to make steam. The steam would be harnessed to turn a turbine, and the resulting electricity would be sold to the Authority to run the new sewage plant.

Consolidation Meetings

Commissioners had said they wanted to hear about intangibles, and Denise Reed told Saturday's gathering that her only question related to volunteers: "What I like very much is part-time volunteer government. Full-time people don't seem to care as much."

Mr. Floyd replied that today's municipal administrators and clerks are full time "and they are most caring," and Commissioner Harry Sayen said, "Everybody wants what Denise wants. But it's hard to find volunteer political candidates; that's one reason we recommend a form of government in which administration is separated from legislation."

How to Govern? Form of government, particularly a possihle ward system, was discussed at length Saturday, at the Commission's request. Co-chairman William Selden suggested that the public's vote could swing on the question of whether representatives should be elected at large or by a ward system -- and everyone regretted the necessity for the word "ward" with its seamy connotations.

The majority of the Forms of Government Committee prefer at-lnrge representation, Mr. Selden said, but realize that a ward aystem would make it easier for many people to vote for consolidation.

Cornforth Protests. Mr. Cornforth protested that it was "totally wrong" to advocate wards for that reason.

Mr. Selden reported that a Borough official believed wards would make government more difficult, warning of trade-offs between wards. But William Cherry suggested that, if the entire governing body were chosen from wards, each representative would relate to a small segment of the community, and a close personal relationship could be maintained

One speaker suggested that a comhination of wards and at-large representatives would be desirable in the early years, and Mrs. Gipson pointed out that whatever form of government is chosen, it can be changed.

John Bleimeier worried, at Thursday's meeting, about accountability. "There will be 25,000 people trying to reach the mayor," he declared, and mentioned the 92,000 population of Trenton.

Identical Interests. The very werd "Trenton" always makes Princeton audiences shudder and this one did, but Kay Mack protested the analogy with Trenton. Borough and Township are "similar communities, our interests are the same," she said

Mr. Sayen quoted former Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney as observing that, "Anybody against consolidation won't vote 'for' just because you give the sep of wards, but those very people are the nnes who'll demand wards."

High Time! Two consolidation veterans spoke. James Arnold, who served on former consnlidation study commissions, told Thursday's audience, "We are a single community, built around a aingle husiness district and with single interests, and we'd better damn well start acting like it."

Helen Fairbanks, on the consolidation study group that antedated this one, said, "As a Township resident, I'm very concerned about what happens in the Borough -- I'm affected by a parking garage -- and I'm sure Borough citizens are concerned about Township growth."

In Thursday's audience, Dan Farcasiu said the Commission was full of sentiment, "acting on an old dream," and on Saturday, Commissioners began by denying that charge.

"We are not a group of sentimentalists," Mr. Floyd declared. "We are not a homogenous group, we were not all pre-determined about consolidation when we were elected; we're researching all the elements."

Not an Advocate? Later, it appeared that the Commission is divided on whether it should be an advocate, if it recommends consolidation. Mr. Cornforth asked whether it was the function of the Commission to "sell," and Mr. Selden said that hadn't been resolved yet.

"No," said Mr. Van Dyke, "we are a study commission; it's incumbent on us not to advocate, but to give the pros and cons."

"Yes," Mr. Sayen declared, "you fight for your decision. If we recommend consolidation, people have a right to know why."

It's possible, Commission co-chairman Margaret Broadwater said, that the Commission may recommend consolidation just to get it on the ballot so that voters themselves may decide.

Burning of Sludge

Other towns might petition Princeton to burn their garbage, he suggests, and the "extra" electricity generated could be fed into P.S.E.G. lines. The main capital costs are the conversion of the existing furnaces to boilers, the necessary scrubbers and anti-pollution devices in the combustion chamber and the steam turbine. The incinerator in the new plant that burns sludge is not designed for garbage, Mr. Slaby says.

Grants Available? There might be federal DOE or EPA grants or state DEP funds available for such a project, Mr. Slaby told the Environmental Commission, but "the bottom line is that we're doing this in conservation of scarce resources," he said. To use a rapidly depleting fuel, like oil, to burn sludge, when sludge itself is combustible when dried to a certain point or mixed with other combustible materials, does not make sense from a conservation point of view, he thinks.

In assessing cost effectiveness, he says a number of questions have to be asked: What will happen when we can no longer get rid of garbage -- millions of tons of it -- in landfill sites? What is the ultimate of any resource, he asks, answering that by saying it is the price one is willing to pay when the resource is all gone. In that line of reasoning, $10 million in capital costs would seem like nothing 10 years from the time when the necessary fuel (oil) is gone and another solution costing five or ten times that is sought, he suggests.

In Mr. Slaby's view, what is cost effective is energy conservation and energy recycling. He feels Princeton could set an example. "I would like to see this community take the lead in showing the state and the nation that we are willing to stick our necks out, not only for now but for the future. There are so many good brains in this town," he adds.

We can't wait for the county to make up its mind on a regional solid waste disposal plan, he thinks, because the landfill problem has been analyzed and critiqued for years without a solution. He feels that the old plant is sitting in an area with a fair amount of land around it that the community has accepted as the location of its sewage and garbage disposal. "The elements are so enticing," he says, "if we could only fit in a few more..."

To Study Numbers. The Environmental Commission agreed to reactivate its Energy Task Force, consisting of Denise Reid, William P. Starr, William Walker, Prof. Michael Antal of Princeton University and Evelyn Geddes to meet with Mr. Slaby and "come up with numbers."

Predicted Crowd of 40,000 at Country Music Festival Leaves Township Wondering If It Has a 2d 'Woodstock' on Its Hands

Township Committee was somehat chagrined last week to learn of the magniture of the Chamber of Commerce Country Music Festival (see page 5B), to which it had given its blessing only a week ago.

Police Chief Frederick Porter expressed his concern over the size of the crowd expected -- upwards of 40,000 and the fact that the Chamber had applied to the Alcoholic Beverage Commission for permission to sell beer all day in a "beer garden" at adjoining Frelinghuysen Field.

The event, which will take place on June 23, is a benefit for the Chamber, and the proceeds will go to "community projects" in the 14-community area that the Chamber serves. The producer, Marny Goodman, who has gathered together a number of well-known country western singers and groups to perform from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., has advertised in country western magazines and in New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Newark.

---

Tickets have been sold as far afield as Texas, Wisconsin and Michigan, according to Ellen Hodges at the Chamber of Commerce.

The original request that came to Township Committee had to do with music amplification, and thinking that folk festivals involved fewer decibels than rock, Committee granted the request.

Last Wednesday, faced with the possibility of all-day drinking and crowds on the order of the former Jaycees Football Classics between the Eagles and the Giants, Township Committee gave Chief Porter the authority to stipulate on the request to the Alcoholic Beverage Commission that the beer garden not open until noon. Committee also asked Virginia Hammell, director of the Events Office at Princeton University, to write this stipulation in its lease with the Chamber. In addition, Chief Porter was given permission to close down the sale of beer if circumstances warrant.

Another Woodstock? "All of us are sitting here kicking ourselves," said Mayor Josie Hall, expressing Committee's second thoughts about the earlier permission, "but none of us knew the extent of the promotion and how many people would be coming."

Township attorney Gordon Griffin told her that Committee would have to have a reason to deny permission. "We don't have a Woodstock-type ordinance here," he said

Brown Water. Mayor Hall reported on her investigation into the problem of brown water in certain areas of the Township. These areas are not universal, she said, but could be pin-pointed by the number of complaints, to the Independence-Constitution Drive area, Rosedale Road, Montague-Crestview Circle, Great Road and Drakes Corner Road and especially on Ridgeview Road and Circle.

The result of a meeting with Tom Cawley of Elizabethtown Water Co., and was that the Water Co., which thinks the problem is due to excessive rust in the pipes, will do some research on the matter.

Specifically, tests for the PH factor, which corrodes pipes, will be conducted, and if the situation warrants, the water company will dig into connector pipes and blow cement inside to line the pipes.

Bhagwan Dass, Township engineer, suggested that the problem is mainly at the dead end of a water main and that developers should be required to provide continuous loops wherever possible.

In other matters, Township Committee:

- Asked Charles St. John of the Historic Sites Commission to say how the Commission would go about designating houses. Committee is considering enacting a Landmark Ordinance in June, Mayor Hall said.
- Moved the Mercer Road bikepath closer to the road to cut down the cost of reconnecting houses to the utility poles.
- Noted that a proposed Public Service request to change the level of "levelized energy adjustment charge" amounted to an 8000 percent increase;
- Scheduled the A.L. Moffat appeal from a Planning Board decision to June 6.
- Named Henry Frank and William Weathersby to the tax re-evaluation advisory committee.

TOPICS Of The Town

PACE IS CRITICIZED In Attacking CBD Problems. The painstaking digit-by-digit approach of Borough consultants Venturi and Rauch drew criticism from an impatient audience after Thursday's meeting on Palmer Square plans. (See "Mailbox," page 17).

Still without final parking survey results -- promised for early next week -- consultants based six alternatives on an assumed deficit of 600 parking spaces. Another assumption is that Princeton must have fringe parking "whether we like it or not," in the words of V. & R. partner Denise Scott-Brown.

Five alternatives showed the familiar garages and commerical blocks in various places around Palmer Square, with apartments for the elderly sometimes included and sometimes removed. The sixth plan was the original one, rejected by the Planning Board last summer.

Alternatives ranged from three garages holding 1,700 cars (plus 130 cars parked on residential streets) and no fringe parking at all, to a pair of garages holding 1,000 cars and 862 to 1,062 cars assigned to the fringes.

The University Viewpoint. Examining a scheme showing combined garage-stores for the library lot, Princeton University's Gene McPartland said the University doesn't want stores in a garage. The University has shops in its own Palmer Square plans. Also, fringe sites -- Jadwin Gym, the lake banks -- invariably are University-owned and already marked for future University use.

Samuel Hamill, of the citizens Steering Committee, said this week that he conferred Friday with V. & R., and told them many felt parking is only part of the problem, and that the economic future of the town, questions of scale, a mix of stores and offices and apartments, aesthetics and the impact of all this on neighborhoods, should be worked on while awaiting the results of the parking survey.

They emphasized, he reported, that they believe a methodical approach, although time-consuming, can solve the problem. They are aware, he said, that they are obligated to do a broad-based urban design study for the Borough and they promised to have alternatives more

Labor Problems Slow PHS Remodeling, May Create Space Shortage Next Fall

Labor difficulties which have meant a set-back of about three weeks in construction work at Princeton High School may be resolved this week, at least in part, according to School Superintendent Paul Houston

Unless a solution is reached and work resumed, he said, he will have to start thinking in the next few weeks about where to put high school students this fall.

Jaden Electric, subcontractor on the high school joh, is a non-union firm. It was chosen because it was low bidder and, by law, the school board must take the lowest bid.

Shortly after May I, so-called "informational pickets" appeared at the high school gym construction site on Walnut Lane. The pickets are not actually striking workers. They are defined as "informational" because they are assigned to a site to inform other workers ond the public that a given contractor is non-union.

Complaint Filed. Under National Labor Relations Board rules, a construction project must have separate gates for union and non-union workers. The pickets now at the high school were supposed to picket the non-union gate; however, according to Dr. Houston, they picketed both gates. Rule Construction, the general contractor, filed a complaint with the NLRB. A settlement of that complaint is expected - or at least, hoped for – this week.

Of greater concern, Dr. Houston continued, is a regional masons strike. He said he has heard that since there is plenty of work elsewhere in the state, masons have no particular reason to see that the strike in this region is settled.

Although work has halted on the gym, that is not the main problem, the superintendent said. In early fall, a gym isn't needed, but once classes begin, it will be impossible to work inside the building on ceiling and wall repair and lighting.

It is not expected, the superintendent said, that the school district will have to make up any dollar loss.

precisely prepared when they come to Princeton again.

Mr. Hamill, who is executive director of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional StudyCouncil, observed that there is a delicate balance between decision-making by citizens, and the professionalism of a consultant.

People would he offended, he pointed out, if a consultant laid a completed plan on the table and said, "You must do this"; At this same time, however, the community wants help, or it wouldn't have called in the consultant.

PROTESTS RAISED

Against Land-Use Proposals. Residents of Lambert-Rosedale area stopped by the land-use committee of the Planning Board Monday night to express their dismay at a tentative assignment of conditional high-density housing to an area around the intersection of Rosedale and Province Line on the draft land-use map.

Dr. Dudley Hawkes and his wife, the Rev. Daphne Hawkes, 620 Rosedale; Sidney Blaxill, 270 Lambert, and C. Barnwell Straut, 210 Lambert, were the chief speakers.

Also, the Institute for Advanced Study, on hand at the invitation of the land-use committee, outlined plans for some 1,200 housing units on 236 acres it owns in the southeast corner of the Township. Richard Weinstein, president of New Sources for Funding, an organization which helps non-profit organizations develop property, said he was aware of Planning Board interest in low-moderate income housing in this section.

When he suggested another talk with the committee, chairman Jerome Rose demurred. It isn't possible, he explained, to adapt the land-use process to accommodate various developers.

"Dispersal" Advocated. The Rosedale-Lambert residents, one of whom said it would be "devastating, psychiatrically" to have high-density housing nearby, protested that they had expected the two-acre zoning in their neighborhood to remain.

As Time Goes By

May's almost over
And summer's begun.

True enough. June will come along next week but May hasn't provided all that much delightful spring-like weather. Too many clouds—such as the three days starting last Friday, when a nor-easter occupied almost all of the Atlantic seaboard.

More clouds—and more rain—are due late Wednesday, with the precipitation expected to last off and on for some 24 hours once it begins. Thereafter, partially sunny skies should dominate the scene, remaining dry right through the three-day weekend. Thermometer readings will range from the low 50s to the mid 70s.

Dr. Rose explained that since the eastern Township is already developed to a high density, the committee felt it was only fair to disperse the municipality's "fair share" of more moderately priced homes.

Under "conditional high density," developers would be allowed more density if they agreed to provide for lower-income families.

When Dr. Hawkes asked how neighbors could "continue the battle," Township Mayor Josie Hall said that he should write a letter outlining his views, and Mr. Blaxill warned, "I don't think the neighborhood will buy it."

The committee's next meeting, June 4, will be a work session. DR. Rose said he hopes the land-use map can be completed at that time.

FINAL STRIKE OFFER

University Says. Members of striking Local 175 of the Service Employees International Union are scheduled to meet this Wednesday at 8 p.m. to decide whether to accept the contract Princeton University says is its "final offer" in the food service workers' strike.

Informal talks, without a mediator, were held last Wednesday and Thursday between University and union. On Friday, talks with the mediator were held, with informal discussions continuing over the weekend.

Comments in Parking Survey at Odds, Ranging From 'I Love Princeton' to 'This Place Stinks'

Comments as far apart as these were scribbled on the Borough's parking questionnaire tickets by some of the 1,603 people who returned the questionnaires. Here are a few samples:

"A two-story garage is high enough."

"No parking garage – let's not destroy Princeton."

"Every woman I asked said she would never park in a large garage."

"That 800-car garage was the worst idea ever dreamed of for Princeton – less traffic should be our goal."

"I'm convinced Princeton is dying: stop the surveying and give this town a garage."

"Stop wasting money and build the garage."

"Do something quickly for this horrendous situation."

"Not another study! We've known for ten years that we've got a parking problem."

"In 21 years, I've only once had a parking problem."

"I never have trouble parking except at lunch-time."

"I get indigestion trying to beat those meter-maids in the middle of my sandwich."

"Employees park in all the available spots."

"Meter-feeding is unfair."

"Why not have a small bus shuttling up and down Nassau?"

"More of us would use the bus if it were more frequent."

"The hospital's new garage is out of character with the town."

"The hospital's garage is terrific -- build one like it."

"I go out of my way to avoid Princeton stores because of no parking spaces."

"I religiously avoid driving and walking in Princeton's business district: it's surpassed only by the garment district of New York."

"Creating additional parking should be a priority: I think the Planning Board must reside in a different community."

"I'd rather park some distance from the library, than have the mere convenience of a garage."

"Make a deicison and stop: you are debating the issue to death."

dispute meet this Wednesday with both mediators, it will be "D-Day," in the words of one University official. He said that both union and University "have moved considerably" since the strike began. He added that the union knows Wednesday's offer is a final one by the University.

Students are reportedly planning a "Solidarity Day" for this Wednesday, but since this is the first week of final exams, it is not expected that they will be active for very long. Meanwhile, plans for Reunion Week-end, June 8-10, are moving ahead, under David Rahr, director of the Alumni Council, and Leslie ("Bud") Vivian.

The 11 major Reunion classes may experience a change in style from previous years -- disposable dishes and glassware, for example -- served by supervisors, students and possibly even alumni themselves, but according to George Eager, who directs communications for the University, "there was never a thought that Reunions wouldn't happen." Off-year classes have been referred to caterers in the area. He reported that 397 students interested in working that week-end have signed up for jobs.

Last week, food service workers and students picketed the construction site of the new biochemistry building on William Street halting work on the new building for two days. Last Thursday, an agreement was signed in Federal District Court by the attorney for the food services union agreeing to abandon picketing at the construction site.

An all-student picket line last Wednesday was honored by all unionized workers at the biochemistry lab site, according to a member of the Student Coalition to Support the Strike.

A reception for all senior citizens in Princeton Borough and Township will be held this Thursday from 4 to 6 in "Morven," the Governor's mansion. Student volunteers will be guests of honor. lost control of his motorcycle. "I felt the handlebars going waeko when it hit a big hole," Mr. Lewis told police, "and then it turned over and I went over the handlebars."

He was treated at Princeton Medical Center for abrasions and contusions of the right shoulder, wrist and hand and a laceration of the left elbow. Ptl. Randy Sutton, who investigated, said that the row of potholes has been left over from an excavation done on the roadway and that Mr. Lewis hit one of the larger ones with a raised edge around it.

He charged him with being an unlicensed driver and with operating an unregistered vehicle after Mr. Lewis told him the plates on the motorcycle belonged to the previous owner.

Head-on Collision. Two cars collided head-on on Terhune Road near Randall Road early Saturday evening, resulting in minor injury to both drivers.

Police said that James J. Westphal of 96 Meadowbrook Drive was stopped in the proper lane when Mario S. Mattera, 41 Carnahan Place, crossed over into his lane. Mr. Mattera, charged with failure to keep right by Ptl. David Funk, reportedly told police that he was not paying attention to his driving. He sustained a laceration of the face. Mr. Westphal complained of neck pains.

FOUR LADDERS STOLEN

Valued at $1640. Four magnesium extension ladders, two 40-feet and two 32-feet, with a combined value of $1640 were stolen during the weekend.

Police report they were locked to a tree behind Corwin Hall on the university campus. Each bore the stencil "Princeton University Paint Shop."

A student's quartz watch valued at $200 was stolen Monday from Room 4 in the basement of the Woodrow Wilson building where the owner had left it between 10:15 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., and a chair was taken during the weekend from a social room at the Graduate College. The blue-cushioned chair with a wooden platform base is valued between $200 and $225.

A $45 battery was stolen from a car of a Spring Street resident while it was parked during the weekend in the Witherspoon Street lot, while Township police report two directional lights were snapped from their front fender mounting on a company truck owned by Ivy Manor and Rug and Furniture Mart while it was parked in the Princeton Shopping Center lot. The lights were valued at $50.

An employee of the YMCA reported the theft of a check for $447.58 from a desk in his locked office. Payment on the Princeton Bank check on the YMCA account was stopped. There were no signs of forced entry in the theft which, police said, occurred between 9 and 12 noon.

A $100 bill, four quarters and two credit cards were removed last week from a student's wallet which had been left in a coat room at Cloister Inn on Prospect Avenue.

Five Bikes Stolen. Borough police also listed five bicycle thefts last week. One five-speed, $85 model was taken Monday from the rear of Princeton High School and a boy's 10-speed valued at $150 was taken last week from a bike rack on the west side of the high school. Police said the female student owner is an Elm Road resident.

A third bicycle, a girl's $125 10-speed, was taken Thursday from the rear of the high school, and a Princeton Avenue resident reported a girl's 10-speed valued at $175 was removed from ao unlocked garage sometime during a seven-day span.

A Jefferson Road resident told police last week that her son's $70 bicycle had been stolen between 8 a.m. and 2:40 in the afternoon while he was visiting on Clay Street.

POOL TO OPEN

On Saturday. The Princeton Community Pool will open Saturday at 11.

The pool complex will be open from 11-8 Saturday, Sunday and Monday and also the weekends of June 2-3 and 9-10 before opening full-time for the summer. Princeton residents may use the pool either purchasing a season ticket or by paying a daily

Service Stations Will Follow Shorter Hours Saturday And Close All Day Sunday, Monday

Princeton residents planning a trip during the three-day Memorial Day weekend are advised to fill up their gas tanks early.

Sunday and Monday are out. Of eight service stations here questioned by TOWN TOPICS this week, not one reported it would be open on those two days. Two – Griggs Corner Amoco at Hulfish and Witherspoon and the Mobil station on Nassau at Olden – report they plan to be closed all three days.

The rest plan to be open for a limited time on Saturday. Hours and amounts each station plans to pump vary and will depend, the owners report, on how much gas they have at the end of the week.

Larry's Sunoco on Nassau Street will be open the longest on Saturday, from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. with a $5 maximum. Burt Hughes of the Exxon Station next door says he will be open probably from 9 to 2.

"I know I'll get swamped on Friday," he predicted. "Actually," he said Tuesday, "I'm filling 'em up right now; I'm tired of seeing them all every day." He was quick to add that that was the exception, not the rule. "I'll probably have some kind of maximum on Saturday."

Mobil on Nassau Street presently has a $10 maximum but owner Joseph Vaccarino says it will probably be less by Friday. He reports receiving a delivery of gas last Saturday and "I will be lucky if it goes through Friday without cutting down to $5."

The three stations on Bayard Lane are united. All have $5 maximums, with Exxon selling on a cash-only basis. All have been closing at 3 in the afternoon.

"About a half day," is the estimate of Tony Stefanelli of how long his American station will be open on Saturday. "We'll see how the supply lasts," he said. His station and the others on Bayard, he commented, get a lot of transient drivers.

Although Tony Matarese of Griggs will be closed Saturday, he said he plans to take his maximum off Friday so drivers can fill up for the weekend.

Frenchy Gianacaci of the Gulf Station on Nassau says he will be open only a few hours Saturday morning. "I can't sell all day, I don't have any more deliveries coming for May," he said.

He did hold out some hope for June, however. "Next month the allocations will be based a little differently," he said – at least for Gulf dealers. Gas still won't be plentiful, he commented, but allocations should run between 90 and 97 percent of last year's usage.

Nor has it all been one way. Said one dealer, after telling of promised deliveries that arrived late, "if my customers only knew what I've been going through to get gas so they can get to work in the morning."

admission fee. Season permits cost $60 for a family, $25 for an adult (16 and over) or $10 for a child. Season permits may be purchased at the pool (by check only) between 10:30 and 6.

Weekend and holiday daily admission fees are $2.50 for adult residents, 75 cents for children; $3.50 for non-resident adult guests and $2.50 for non-resident children. All guests must be accompanied by a Princeton resident or season ticket holder.

Permits may also be purchased during the week at the Princeton Recreation Department in room 211 of the Valley Road School. For additional information, call 921-9480.

BOROUGH SERVICES

To University. What is the actual financial impact of Princeton University on the Borough, from the Borough's point of view?

Municipal officials are preparing a service-by-service analysis in response to last month's statement by Princeton University President William Bowen on the contributions of the University to the town.

"We want to look at the services we provide and see how they relate to the University's tax-emempt properties," Mayor Robert W. Cawley said. He cited, as an example, the provision of "major" protection by fire and police departments.

"Although the University does have some protection of its own in these areas, the mayor said, "It's really like a home-owner who has a fire extinguisher: when it's a big fire, you need the fire department."

Administrator Mark Gordon, Assessor Stuart Robson and Tax Collector Decimus Marsh are doing the analysis. It is expected to be completed in a few weeks, the mayor said.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

EVERGREENS AND FLOWERING SHRUBS
Notes on Pruning:

with Sam deTuro

Woodwinds Associates

May is the time to prune your evergreens and flowering shrubs, but remember that all foundation plantings require different methods of pruning, based on each plant's distinct characteristic.

Evergreens are pruned to eliminate winter-killed parts, to shape them to their needs, to promote thick growth, and to keep them within bounds. Pine, fir and spruce develop compactness when ½ to ¾ of new growth (candles) are removed. Hemlock becomes bushier when tops are cut out. Arborvitae, yew, juniper, chamaecyparis tend to such fast growth as to block views or darken rooms, removing the top leader or leaders develops better lower growth, and prevents "legginess" Removal of excess lateral branches opens up evergreens, admits more air and light, and promotes healthy growth.

Flowering shrubs need annual pruning, once blossoms have gone, to keep them in shape and encourage development of new wood, as well as enhancing vigorous growth. WOODWINDS recommends pruning azaleas lightly: thinning dense surface growth, except where dead branchs are to be removed. Andromeda can be reduced in height by heavy pruning following blossoming. Rhododendron seldom requires pruning, when needed, however, cut only above the whorls of leaves. Lilac should be thinned very carefully, as blossoms appear only on two and three-year old wood. Flowering almond requires renewing each year by pruning out old wood, and cuting back flowering wood after blossoming. Following flowering, forsythia shoud have long shoots cut back, and old wood thinned out at ground level. Weigelia canes shold be thinned, and flowering branches reduced to encourage strong wood for next year's blooms.

WOODWINDS stresses the importance of shaping trees and shrubs to their naturel symmetry, and recommends the homeowner engage the services of a trained arborist to carry out any extensive pruning work; if you do want to try your hand at some pruning though, remember to use only sharp shears, and never whack or tear the bark. Meke clean cuts at a slant — a basic principle in correct pruning technique.

FUN AND GAMES

At June 2 Fete, "The Great Wall of China," on 800-square foot maze, is one of the new attractions in the children's area of the June 2 Fete of Good Fortune. To help the annual benefit for the Medical Center at Princeton, Judie Sands, a Princeton Day School junior designed the portable wooden maze, which was built by Gordon Buxton's woodworking class at Hopewell Valley High School.

After the children have found their way out of the maze, they may head for the fun house, "The Dragon's Dungeon" or one of the 100-foot "China Slide" space trolleys. Girl Scout troop No. 1403 invites you to "Feed the Dragon" with a bean bag toss, and the Indian Guides of the Princeton YMCA will sponsor a coin toss.

Fun is the key word in the Children's Area, and, thanks to co-chairmen Jeanie Byrne and Lynn Dawes, it comes in lots of different forms. From artsy fun at the Paint Twirl or Make-it-Take-it booths to brain teasers at the RCA Computer Center to a gentle touch at the Petting Zoo, the Fete will keep children happy. They may ride a pony, a covered wagon or a real fire engine from Lawrenceville Fire Company. They can decorate a cupcake at "Junk Food" or their own faces at the Make-Up booth.

They can shop a bit at "Coolies' Corner" where gifts and prices are child-sized, or treat themselves to a balloon sold by the West Windsor Lions Club. There will be clowns to laugh at, games galore, even a kids' raffle, where a 25 cent chance can win a giant stuffed animal.

For older children and adults, Sports Alley at the Fete includes eight activities, each with a different fan button prize. Test your skills against a Nassau Soccer Association goalie and win an "I'm a Soccer Nut" button. Or race against time in the "Kamikaze Run" obstacle course and win an original 1979 Fete dragon pin. The frisbee contest offers a "Star Wars" button, and you can win "Mork and Mindy" at the person dunk run by Interact, the Youth Group of the Princeton Rotary Club.

There's miniature golf, the can crush, baseball toss, and high-striker for the weight lifters in the crowd. All prizes have been supplied by Commodities Corporation of Princeton, who will also award free "Sports Alley" tee shirts to the first 100 people who win all eight buttons.

Topping off the excitement is the June Feet race, where over 500 runners are expected to follow the 10-kilometer course ending at the Fete grounds. Entry forms for the race are available at all branches of Princeton Bank and at area sporting goods stores.

TESTING DATES LISTED

For Pennington Scholarship. Two additional testing days for the Lionel R. Driscoll Merit Scholarship have been announced by The Pennington School. They are this Saturday, and Saturday, June 9, from 9:30 to noon at the school.

Memorial Day Parade to Take Place Friday, Honoring Those Who Died in Nation's Wars

The annual Memorial Day Parade sponsored by the American Legion, Princeton Post 76 and Post 218 will be held Friday evening.

The parade will start at 7 p.m. at Princeton Avenue and Nassau Street and proceed up Nassau Street to the Washington Battle Monument and Borough Hall, where a ceremony will take place.

Leading the parade will be Borough Chief of Police Michael F. Carnevale and Township Police Chief Fred M. Porter, with police color guards. They will be followed by honored guests in cars – Gov. Brendan T. Byrne has been invited – and Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Township Mayor Josie Hall. State and County Legion officials will march, followed by the commanders and members of Post 76 and Post 218, each with a color guard and the president and members of the respective Auxiliary.

American Legion Posts from Trenton, Lawrenceville, Hamilton Township and North Trenton will also be marching, along with Princeton University and Rider College ROTC color guards. Princeton's three fire companies and the First Aid and Rescue Squad will participate, as will the Chamber of Commerce, the Jaycees, boy scouts and gir scouts.

At Borough Hall, the invocation will be given by the Rev. Edward Smith of the First Baptist Church. Don Richards, general chairman of the event, will introduce government officials, and Tom Ward, master of ceremonies, will introduce Legion officials. The principal address will be given by Arthur S. Lane, chairman of the New Jersey State Investigation Committee.

There will be a musical rendition by the Black Watch Junior Drum and Bugle Corps, followed by the laying of the memorial wreath by Thomas J. Lynch of Post 76, assisted by Post 218. The firing squad, Jack Adams, Captain, will give a salute to the dead of all wars, and taps will be sounded by Kevin Brennan of Hightstown. The Rev. William Tucker, Post 76 Chaplain, will give the benediction.

VETERANS INVITED

To Special Ceremony. President Carter has proclaimed the week of May 28 to June 3 as Vietnam Veteran's Week. He asked that the people of the United States, especially veteran's organizations, join with him to pay honor and tribute to those members of the armed forces who served in Southeast Asia.

Princeton Post 76 American Legion will honor these veterans at the post home, 95 Washington Road, on Wednesday, May 30, at 8. William Haupt, commander, invites all Vietnam veterans to attend this ceremony and says that anyone else interested in honoring the veterans is also welcome. A social hour will follow and refreshments will be served.

STEREO SET STOLEN

From Hun School Room. A $1500 stereo set was stolen last week from a student's room at the Hun School.

The victim told police he was sure the windows to his dormitory room were locked when he left Friday afternoon at 3. When he returned the next afternoon at 5, he discovered a window unlocked and open and the stereo missing. Nothing else was taken, police said.

There were three entries reported on the university campus.

A lock was slipped to enter a student's room in Pyne Hall, and from one of the room's occupants a light tan gadget bag containing a 35mm camera, lens and flash -- total value $525 – was stolen. And from another occupant, a 35mm camera and lens valued at $425.

Two microphones valued at $160 were reported stolen last week from an unlocked basement room in the Terrace Club on Washington Road, and seven neckties, all maroon, gold and black, valued at $51, were taken from a display case in the Cottage Club. Police report metal clips had been pried off to remove a glass cover from the case.

A stereo receiver ($300), turntable ($125) and 14-inch television set ($175) were stolen last week from a Wiggins Street apartment. Police report that the thief climbed a fire escape and then broke a window.

Township police report an attempted entry into a King Street home between 1 Saturday afternoon and 2 p.m. Sunday. A five-gallon paint can had been placed under an unlocked window and the window forced open several inches. Police added that the window could not be lifted any higher, however, and there was no entry.

Head of Cherry Hill Nursery School to Retire after 21 Years

Wednesday is the final day of Miriam Klothen's 21-year tenure as director of the Cherry Hill Nursery School and teacher of four-year-olds.

Mrs. Klothen was honored Monday at a special gathering of old and new parents and present and former teachers for dessert and coffee at Palmer House. The setting was made possible because of Jill and Alexander Vincent, parents of a child in the school who are also the host and hostess of Palmer House. A bicycle, its basket filled with flowers, was presented to the retiring teacher who is known for her imaginative ways with young children.

Miriam Klothen

Mrs. Klothen is a trim blonde woman who does not in any way look as if she is a candidate for retirement. And yet, as she says, 21 years is a long time, and her departure will give the school a chance for some "new blood." Also in recent years, with the acquisition of a piano and the start of piano lessons, she has turned to an earlier love of music and is eager to devote three to four hours a day to practicing.

The Cherry Hill Cooperative Nursery School began in the fall of 1958, just three months after the Klothens arrived in Princeton. The Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road had just been completed, and a group of young mothers in the church were interested in starting a nursery school that would be in keeping with the liberal religious philosophy of the church.

Beginning with a group of 10 four year-olds who met three times a week and a similar number of three year-olds who met twice a week, the school has steadily grown, always in response to the needs of the families involved. Today there are four different age groups, each with a teacher and an assistant teacher and a helping mother, and an enrollment of nearly 40.

Mrs. Klothen is a firm believer in a cooperative nursery school as the best way for a child to have the initial school experience one that is bridged with contact from home. She received her nursery school training in England as a war refugee from Germany and had been involved in a cooperative nursery school in Paramus before coming to Princeton.

Stretched but not Pushed. Her basic philosophy is that each child has the need and right to grow in all areas -- physical, mental, emotional and social -- at his or her own rate, and that children should be stimulated but not pushed. "I believe that one should open as many doors as possible during the time one has with a child and that these doors have to be concerned with the here and now," she says.

According to Ann Marie Sabb, mother of Frederick, Mrs. Klothen is "extremely creative" in carrying out this philosophy. In a session on Indians, the children built a tepee using real branches to hold it up and natural dyes to decorate the exterior. They built eskimo huts complete in every detail and talked about how eskimos live as compared to the way they live.

At another time, in talking about the human body, a pediatrician came to show the children a skeleton and the children made their own skeletons, using popsicle sticks. They watched their own "germs" grow in a culture and turned fertilized chicken eggs daily until they hatched. They did simple experiments with water and air to learn about what was floating and what was sinking and whether air or water was heavier.

Anne McGoldrick, who has had two children in the school three years apart, says that the curriculum is never the same from one year to the next and that Mrs. Klothen is "terrifically talented" in taking what the children are doing and drawing it out to give them more to think about the world. A group of boys building with blocks, for instance, are led to think about other things that go into the building of a house. They are given wire and cupcake papers with which to put in electricity and make lamps, and then begin to think of the plumbing requirements.

One year each child had a shoebox in which a favorite word printed on a card would be dropped on an almost daily basis, until the box had quite a lot of words, all discussed in terms of phonetics, and some of the children had magically made the leap into reading. Mrs. Klothen is a "fabulous teacher," says Mrs. McGoldrick.

For her part, Mrs. Klothen says she has been fortunate in having an excellent staff of teachers under her direction and that the parents have been "exceptional" people who have contributed on an almost daily basis to the well-being of the school. The 21 years have been "good, joyful ones," she says.

DISCOVERED IN CAR

Trenton Man Charged. Martin J. White, 22, of Trenton, has been charged by Township police with assault and battery and stealing, after he was discovered Monday night by a Redding Circle resident inside her parked car.

Police said that as the victim approached her car, she noticed the dome light on. When she reached the car, a man, later identified as White, got out and was hiding behind his back an 8-track stereo which he had removed for the car.

They exchanged words and the victim asked him to return her stereo. When she entered her car, White allegedly grabbed her from behind. She called police at 10:48 and Sgt. Robert Heacock responded and arrested White.

White was later released. Police said he had the stereo in his possession at the time of his arrest.

Charged With Break-in. Anthony Lamar, 19, 107 Birch Avenue, has been charged with breaking into the Valley Road School on Sunday.

He was arrested by Sgt. David Potts around 1:45 p.m. as he was leaving the school. Police were alerted when an alarm sounded at the school.

Lamar was taken to Mercer County Jail in lieu of $100 bail. He had a four-inch hunting knife in his hand at the time of his arrest, said police, who reported that Lamar had kicked out a lower panel of a door at the west end of the building to enter.

gratitude of the AAMH to the county for its help over the past year. Addressing the dinner guests, Mrs. Sigmund said that the AAMH represents a spectrum of members of the community whom she called "do-gooders who actually do good."

---

Each AAMH member was named individually and praised for his or her activities over the past year. Glenn Rittmaster, a member of the AAMH and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rittmaster, founder of the organization, received a standing ovation for his remarks to the audience. Glenn, who spoke haltingly but with intense feeling, thanked everyone for being part of the team that makes the AAMH successful.

He added his personal philosophy: "A problem is only a problem if you make it one. We can accomplish our goals if we believe that we can."

SHOPLIFTING CHARGED

To Girls, Both 14. Two 14-year-old Township girls have been charged with shoplifting, and one has also been charged with possession of marijuana. They were later released to the custody of their parents to await further action by a Mercer County juvenile court.

The pair were arrested in the Princeton Shopping Center last week by Ptl. David Cromwell, after they had allegedly shoplifted three blouses and a pair of overalls with a combined value of $88 from Bamberger's.

Police said that one of the girl's handbag contained what appeared to be a marijuana cigarette. A further check revealed that the purse contained a box with six roaches and marijuana seeds inside.

ANNUAL DINNER HELD

By AAMH. The fifth annual dinner of the Mercer Chapter of the Association for Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped was held at the Nassau Inn. About a third of the 130 people who gathered are mentally handicapped adults living in Mercer County.

Each year the Hackney Award for progress during the past year is given to an AAMH member (client) selected by the staff. Peter Trayers, executive director of the chapter, presented the award to two members -- Tom Parker of Trenton and Jon Brommer of Princeton.

Mr. Parker, who was living in an institution a year ago, has a full-time job at Philip Arthur's restaurant in Trenton and lives independently in his own apartment. He started out as a dishwasher, but quickly earned a promotion. He now opens the restaurant every morning and is in charge of the place for several hours each day.

Mr. Brommer, the second winner of the Hackney Award, is a full-time employee of Princeton University and lives independently in town. His personal struggle to deal with the speech impairment and muscular problems resulting from a severe illness were cited as inspiring to all who know him.

In place of Arthur Sypek, Mercer county Executive, Barbara Sigmund, president of the Board of Freeholders, received the thanks and

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

(The following information was researched and written by members of the Regional Schools PTO Council, and the opinions expressed are not those of TOWN TOPICS.)

PRINCETON HIGH SCHOOL French students participated in a Foreign Language Tournament at Rider College which involved over 1400 participants from throughout the state. Two PHS students were first-place winners in their divisions: Becky Popenoe and John Sullivan.

Becky, a Junior, gained recognition through recitation of a passage from a published work, while John, a Sophomore, excelled on a written exam on grammatical knowledge.

Earlier this month an entire busload of French students – 45 of them – together with six teachers and three adults journeyed to the Brooklyn Academy of Music to see "Le Misanthrope" as staged by the Comedie Francaise. The play received rave reviews from the New York critics and the PHS contingent.

FIELD DAY AT COMMUNITY PARK combines the best of athletic competition with a carnival-type atmosphere and a cook-out lunch for students and parents. Different classes sponsored booths or activities such as the apple dunk and haunted house; physical education came to the fore in 25 and 50 meter races, a sand pail relay, and bicycle road-e-o; quiet activities included sandcastle building, fortune-telling (by Zenobia, the wise), story-telling, and make-up (eye shadow, rouge, lipstick, the works); plus variety in kite making and flying, square dancing, disco, a maze, and even "roll-down-the-hill" for free-wheeling children who love to tumble.

Everyone found something to do, watch, and enjoy – and parents came to join in the fun as well as help keep things running smoothly.

PHS STUDENTS WERE treated to the McCarter Theater Company's production of Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors" on May 8 through the generosity of the First National Bank. Juniors and Seniors attended the two-hour production and enjoyed it thoroughly.

A STUDY OF THE Post Office by Mrs. Moore's second grade class at Riverside became the heart of innumerable activities by the students. Letter paper was decorated with potato prints, letters written and addressed, and at the post office the students were allowed to cancel their own letters.

This trip stimulated interest in stamps, so a design contest for colorful and creative stamps ensued. Later interest in stamp collecting piqued curiosity about foreign countries and map study. The class, with volunteer aid, also made their own post-cards.

PHS ELECTIONS FOR STUDENT COUNCIL have been held; the officers for 1979-80 are Bill Sapoch, president; Bruce Cobb, vice-president; Margaret Clark, recording secretary; and Georgeanna Gould, corresponding secretary.

Nominating conventions are meeting to draw up slates of officers for each of the three upper classes at PHS.

RIVERSIDE SCHOOL DRAMA flourished as the Rounds-Chace K-1 class gave their play to a Littlebrook kindergarten audience. Miss Taylor's second graders shared their play with a group of Senior Citizens.

THE ANNUAL GOLD KEY ceremonies at Princeton High School will have Mrs. Barbara Sigmund, our local Mercer County Freeholder, as guest speaker. The assembly recognizes the contributions to PHS by its Junior and Senior class members through activities and service.

JOHNSON PARK HOLDS THEIR annual Spring Concert this evening at the school; fourth and fifth grade students will present a musical entitled "Joseph and His Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat."

IF BY CHANCE your family will be leaving Princeton during the 1979-80 school year, please notify the school office; it's so much easier to plan staffing and schedules when there's an accurate "head count." Notification will also make the process of transferring records much simpler.

WALLACK IS PRESIDENT

Of School Board. Robin Wallack defeated Dale Madden, 5-4, for the presidency of the school board Tuesday night and Hannah Fox was chosen, 8-0, with one abstention, after an intricate parliamentary ballet that kept all nine school board members on their toes for some 30 minutes.

That didn't leave much time for board members to talk about criteria for choosing a principal for Princeton High School, but they'll have other chances. Joseph P. Moore said he didn't even want to define criteria this early, it could be interesting.

Mr. Madden said he wanted somebody on the way up, not somebody already arrived; Dietrich Meyerhofer said the principal should have a strong committment to excellence; Rosalind Frisch said she wanted somebody with a liberal arts background who would never say "prioritze" and Mrs. Wllack advised Superintendent Paul Houston that "there's no place like home" and raised her paper cup of water in a toast-like salute to Director of Secondary Education David Myers, in the audience.

At Mrs. Frisch's request, the board will discuss next Tuesday the minimum number of candidates to set for final interviewing.

BEEF RAFFLE: Al Tolo (left) and Tom Huntington consider carving a chunk of beef similar to the $350 hind quarter donated by Toto's Market for the beef raffle at the June 2 Fete of Good Fortune. Raffle tickets for the hind quarter and five other beef prizes will be available for 50 cents at the Washington Road field on Fete Day. (Karan Lynam photo)

At Mrs. Frisch's request, The board used to vote for officers by secret ballot but a "sunshine" challenge wiped that out. Mrs. Frisch moved for an oral vote. Dr. Meyerhofer protested that the last members in an oral vote might change their minds after hearing the way the vote had gone. Mrs. Wallack proposed a compromise: write your vote, give it to secretary William Evans, then announce it orally. That won, 8-1, Winthrop Pike voting "no." The oral vote, itself, skinned through, 5-4.

But if a member writes one vote and says another, which one counts? The written vote won that round, 9-0.

After that had been cleared away, the votes – written, then oral – were tallied. Mrs. Wallack won with Ann McGoldrick, Mr. Moore, Artis Phillips, Mrs. Frisch and herself. The board then made the election unanimous.

It's been a courtesy, Mrs. Fox reminded the board, for the president to nominate the vice-president. Mrs. Wallack protested this custom and Dr. Meyerhofer nominated Mrs. Fox.

"You are breaking the tradition of dividing the officers between Borough and Township," Mrs. Frisch, a Township member, declared. Both Mrs. Wallack and Mrs. Fox are from the Borough.

"This is a regional board," Dr. Meyerhofer declared.

"It is not a break with tradition, but a step forward to a whole community," Mr. Evans observed.

Mrs. Fox won, 8-0, with Mrs. Frisch abstaining.

Cherry, Township Committee Member, Advances Various Suggestions for Solving Deer Problem

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The "deer problem" in Princeton Township would be given a more comprehensive overview than has been available in recent news items relating the Township Committee discussion of this subject on May 9. This discussion was not intended to be complete, and it was heavily biased toward only certain aspects of the problem, since the considerable ground covered in the 1977 hearings and discussions was already pretty much in the minds of the Commmittee.

Therefore the suggestion that I made in the latest discussion, to the effect that the deer be driven into a corral and a suitable number harvested there under relatively controlled circumstances, was a highly conditional suggestion. I believe my colleagues understood that.

The conditions, derived from the previous discussions, were several:

- If it is absolutely necessary to reduce the size of the present deer herd by a large amount;
- If it is insupportably expensive to tranquilize the deer and transport them to some area where the local authorities would allow them to be released and where they could survive;

---

- If reinstituting hunting, either under the usual or special regulations, cannot achieve the necessary herd reduction because of the limited hunting areas available in the Township and the many sancturaries, that is, woodlands off limits to hunters;
- Or of greater importance, if it is quite unacceptable to subject Township residents to a deer hunting season;
- If there is no other, more humane, possibly biological means for reducing the herd size;
- If attrition by starvation and disease and the excessive population drop often associated with such attrition processes is considered inhumane or otherwise undesirable;
- And if it is sure that future housing development will not, without cruel hardship, cause the excess of the herd to emigrate out of the area.

At no time did I or anyone else, even on a conditional basis, give any consideration to removing the entire herd. These beautiful animals were and are considered an invaluable asset to the aesthetics of our environment.

In 1977, nevertheless, wildlife experts recommended that the herd be reduced to what they regarded as a healthful size, taking into account the available forage and shelter, of about 150 to 200 head, instead of the 500 head which was then estimated to be present. It is not currently known whether, as then predicted, the herd has now grown to nearly 1000 head. The point is, however, that with reduced population pressure the remaining animals would be more healthy, much less likely to forage close to residences where they damage valuable trees, shrubbery and plants, and much less likely to come close to traveled roads where they generate a grave nighttime hazard to motorists.

On May 9, Township Committee had before it the accumulated reports of a very large amount of shrubbery and flower damage, and even vegetable garden losses of considerable significance. Residents seriously affected quite rightly came to complain.

Fencing was discussed, and also quite novel suggestions on deer repellants, but as yet no determination has been made that either is a practicable and generally applicable solution to the shrubbery damage problem. In any event, neither suggestion offers relief from the serious hazard to motorists, a matter not fully discussed on May 9 but one I believe fully recognized by all Committee members.

A motorist should, of course, reduce speed considerably in areas thought to be subject to deer crossing, such as those where roadside signs provide warning. Beyond this there is not much self-protection he can provide, for at night deer near the edge of the road are virtually invisible and can leap out more quickly than the driver's reflexes can respond.

There were 85 such deer - automobile collisions reported in the Township last year and police seem to feel a number of additional collisions went unreported. Fortunately, there were no very serious or fatal injuries to persons in result.

Even so, damage to a car can range from a few hundred dollars to the total loss of a full-sized passenger vehicle. Moreover, in all too many deer-car accidents, the body of the deer will rise over the front hood and crash through the windshield, inflicting extremely serious face, head and neck injuries on the driver and adjacent passenger.

If the animal is conscious its slashing hooves can do even more. In almost every case of windshield collapse, it appears that the driver loses control of the car. A violent collision with another car or with a roadside service pole, tree or ditch is the likely outcome.

Now it is true that this nation pays an enormous toll in human injuries and deaths in order to enjoy the advantages of automobile travel, but the great size of this toll is no justification for a governing body to add to it even slightly without the most sober balancing with other costs. obviously it is an area where people of good will and good intelligence can still honestly come forth with differing judgments.

It suffices to say at this time that the suggestions made on May 9, however new they may be, are not yet considered by anyone, so far as I know, to be either desirable or workable. Alternative suggestions are earnestly solicited.

Open Space Violated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Mr. Allan Carrick's lenghty explanation of the policies of the Shade Tree Commission (May 16) is almost completely beside the point. It was never my intention to question the legality of the action taken by the Borough to plant shade trees along borough streets.

What I did question was the civility and good taste of the Shade Tree Commission in planting a new tree on an open space in my front lawn without consulting me, or without taking into consideration the relation of that open space to my house and its trees and shrubbery. Mr. Carrick's theory of landscape architecture apparently is that a space which will accommodate a tree should have a new tree planted in it, and that the only thing to take into account in the planting itself is the distance between the new tree and old trees already established along the curb of the street.

It happens that there is a large beautifully-formed maple tree at my front door, with shrubbery and smaller trees on the front lawn between my house and the street. The open space which Mr. Carrick arbitrarily filled with the new tree constituted a fine grassy vista that lent good taste and emphasis to my house in its framework of trees and shrubbery. The architect who built my house in 1940 appreciated my big maple particularly, and adjusted the house to it.

Mr. Carrick has made the new planting look like a hack job. If he wants to argue with me, why doesn't he address himself to the question whether the new tree bears a relation to the established planting on my front lawn?

Thoughts from Greenholm.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Mr. Agle seems to be in favor of sidewalk cafes, the Playhouse Theatre, young people and building apartment buildings in Greenholm (Town Topics, May 16). As a resident of Greenholm, who favors trees and birds in addition to Mr. Agle's cafes, theatres and young people, I would suggest instead that these apartment buildings be built on Elm Road, where Mr. Agle can oversee their construction directly.

When it comes to destroying beautiful neighborhoods for monetary gain, I'm sure I can find better rationalizations for it being Mr. Agle's neighborhood rather than mine - I'm not a consultant or even a planner, but I'll find something to say about traffic patterns and such. It probably wouldn't matter much - when streets like Greenholm are destroyed, it is because there is no one powerful enough who lives on them to prevent people with too much money from making even more.

I would offer to return Mr. Agle's favor and send him to Los Angeles, but zoning laws are not easily changed there either.

Thoughts from the Mayor.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Recent letters contained two related to the current discussion of Princeton University's payments to Princeton Borough from its tax exempt properties (in either a pay-for-services basis or contribution basis). I should like to comment on both letters.

First, Bill Starr's letter suggests the State of New Jersey provide from the State Treasury contributions in lieu of tax payments for independent schools and hospitals as does Connecticut. I agree that this is a very reasonable way of having the whole State share the burden of tax ememption of certain important private institutions which serve a much broader area than the municipality, when that burden is very unequally shared among all municipalities, as is the case in Princeton.

I do not want to sound too defeatist, but I and former

Borough colleagues had lobbied in years past and the best we gained was the State paying on its properties. I wonder about the present climate in State government. Is it receptive to increased programs? And how would governing bodies and taxpayers in the older cities like Trenton or the rural areas like the Amwells feel about contributing taxes to New Jersey so as to provide relief for Princeton?

The rationale is great but the political reality is rather dismal; however I'm willing to try again.

And to Fred Fox I say:

I am sorry you are concerned about the current discussions between Princeton University and Borough Government about the amount of payments in lieu of taxes. I found your husband and wife analogy particularly apt. It suggests to me the appropriate quality of discussion among spouses: that is openess and honesty in an atmosphere of mutual respect - and if not love - at least a spirit of friendly cooperation and feeling that we share many common aims.

Perhaps, your concern relates to the newspaper coverage which makes this "family" discussion a public matter - and most of us don't want to discuss family matters in public.

I would like to suggest that it is at this point that the analogy is no longer apt. Both University and Borough are public institutions. The matter first came up at a public Borough budget meeting in January initiated by taxpayers. Publicity given to its report by the University clearly indicates the University's belief that this is a public-interest issue.

So please be assured, at least from the Borough perspective, that this discussion is not a quarrel but rather an open and frank examination by two parties of a part of their relationship on which they may have some differences in orientation, each feeling sorely pressed financially but both responsive to good arguments and new facts.

I must also respond to one factual comment. The Borough acknowledges the fact that in its non-educational properties including Palmer Square, Princeton University is the largest taxpayer. My issue is in the tax emempt educational institution; do its various payments directly for service, plus in-lieu payments fully cover services provided by the Borough? I do not know the answer but I believe this process will advance everyone's understanding.

ROBERT W. CAWLEY
Mayor
Borough of Princeton

A Disappointing Meeting.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

As a member of the Borough Steering Committee, I was very disappointed with the meeting last Thursday.

Venturi and Rauch, urban planners hired by the Borough to advise us on the Central Business District, presented design alternatives for the first time since we began to meet. Each alternative included a plan for a parking garage on the Witherspoon-Spring Street lots which was basically unaltered from last summer's design -- even down to the bridge across Spring Street which was so objectionable in the earlier proposal.

Each alternative also included a plan for Palmer Square which contains only retail and office space and 80 hotel rooms. In only one plan was there even a suggestion that Palmer Square might provide some of its own parking.

Does anyone know of any other developer for whom we would be willing in essence to waive all parking requirements or build a garage? What has the University (the owners of Palmer Square) offered to the Borough in return? Not a single housing unit or even a piece of property for fringe lot parking!

I had truly believed, perhaps naively, that when we were asked to consider alternative solutions to Central Business District problems we would be presented with real alternatives and new, creative ideas not just warmed-over versions of the same old parking garage and concessions to PSI. Is this really what we should have expected from a firm like Venturi and Rauch? Is this really all that $40,000 for planning buys?

---

I sincerely hope that the public will be present at the next Steering Committee meeting on Thursday, May 31, at 8 at Borough Hall. I believe it will be instructive for residents of the Borough to see the various design "alternatives" before they are presented at a formal public meeting. Residents should have an opportunity to think about what is happening, to examine the ideas and to consider the future of our community.

---

The opposition to last year's garage did not come from a narrow interest group. Rather, it represented an exceptionally broad and deep cross-section of the community. It recognized that there are real concerns about parking. It recognized that there are valid concerns about senior citizen housing. It said, simply, that the garage as proposed last year would create intolerable traffic conditions and be a major step toward a loss of the style, charm and character of this town.

If the Borough residents don't take an interest now, I fear we will face another August garage decision and it will be no different from last August's plan.

Street Resurfacing Needed.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Most people agree that Princeton is a fine community. The good schools, the intellectually stimulating climate, the first-rate libraries, the pride with which residents maintain their homes and gardens, all of this makes it desirable to live in Princeton. I make exception of the roads. Only the word miserable can describe the state of most roads in the Borough and the Township.

How can taxpayers (local and state taxes) have such an indifferent attitude towards the state in which their roads are in? Each spring -- and it happens right now -- its patching-up time for the Kingston road (N.J.27). With roads, as with everything else, there is a limit to patching up: for many years this road needed total resurfacing, all the way from Palmer Square to the end of the lake. The State does not seem to care than many of us travel daily on a road the conditions of which are intolerable. All major roads in Princeton need resurfacing: Prospect, Wiggins, Hamilton, you name it! And most side streets are in a condition which is disgraceful of a community like Princeton.

Students' Opinions Ignored.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

As members of a very diverse group known as the Student Advisory Committee to the Principal of Princeton High School, we would like to take this opportunity to express our concern about the transferral of our principal, George Petrillo, and our vice-principal, J. Alfred Seitz. We realize this letter may be too late to have any effect upon the Superintendent's decision, but we believe the student's opinion whould be at least heard.

Our committee feels that both administrators have done an excellent job in keeping the high school on an outstanding educational level as evidenced by the Middle States' Evaluation, and the continually high student SAT's, despite downward trends nationally. We feel, Dr. Houston, we are already in a "renewal" phase.

This committee wishes the public and student body had an opportunity to express our opinions about the positions before transferrals were made, not afterwards. We have been asked about "criteria" for the new principal. If our opinion is valued in the selection of the new administrators, it should have been just as valued in regarding Mr. Petrillo and Mr. Seitz.

Mr. Petrillo and Mr. Seitz have gained the respect and support of almost the entire school, which has led to a very positive effect on the morale of the students. We find it hard to believe that a newcomer could or should have to work to achieve PHS students' enthusiasm to the degree that these two administrators have.

Senior Citizens Say "Thanks."
To the Editor of Town Topics:

A word of thanks and appreciation to all persons who contributed toward the Princeton Senior Citizens Bazaar and to those people who worked so tirelessly organizing and manning the tables. A special thanks to Emily Thompson who bakes such mouth watering cakes and bread and who contributed so much, not only to the Bazaar, but to all our regular meetings.

Also special tanks to Emma and Larry Fitzgerald who made the many posters displayed throughout the town, and also Mary Uvari who dispensed the hot dogs and soda.

Libby Williams and Helen Steiner collected and sold a tremendous number of white elephants. Thanks also to the helpers at these tables, Alice Harvey, Marion Callighan and Helen Cherry.

To Ida Carroll, Chris Peakes, and their helpers Emma Carnevale, Anne Dennen, Lois Townsend, Marjorie Baker and Mary Reef. The assortment of ceramics, handmade knits and crocheted items were beautiful.

Without the help of the male members of the Club we could not have managed, Alex Duthie, Daniel Goehring, Joe Procaccino, Bill Williams, Victor Steiner and many others. They worked at setting up the tables for the displays, then had the unpleasant job of cleaning up and returning the tables when the day was at an end.

To Nancy Del Nero, who before taking on a new positon, helped organize the Bazaar and lastly Denise Kiog who so expertly guided the committees and listened to the many complaints.

The Bazaar was a tremendous success and congratulations to all members of this organization.

Library Hours Too Short.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter which I have sent to Mayor Cawley and Borough Council:

I want you to know that I feel strongly that it is highly undesirable to close the Library on Saturdays, even though the plan to do so is for only part of the year. In fact, you should be seeking some way to open the Library seven days a week year round (except for holidays). What good is a public library to working people if it isn't open during hours that are convenient to them?

As an aside, I would like to mention that most of the shopping which I do in the Central Business District takes place when I happen to be there because of a visit to the Public Library.

BUSINESS In Princeton

9-MONTH LOSS LISTED

By Atlas Corp. During the nine months ended March 31, Atlas Corporation showed a loss of $1,874,000, or 64 cents a share, compared to a loss of $3,456,000, or $1.18 a share, for the same period in the previous fiscal year. Revenues for the fiscal 1979 period amounted to $48,048,000 compared to $30,994,000 for the same nine months in fiscal 1978. Atlas maintains its corporate headquarters at 353 Nassau Street.

The company gave three reasons for the nine-month loss:

1) Almost all deliveries of uranium concentrate during the quarter ended March 31, 1979 were at low prices under old contracts.

2) Uranium and vandium processing costs during the quarter were high, because of the previously reported unsatisfactory equipment operating results at the company's Moab, Utah plant last winter.

3) Interest expenses resulting from increased bank borrowings and the average interest rate charged for such borrowings were high.

Almost all of the equipment and other operating difficulties at the company's Moab plant have been resolved, and in April, 1979 the mill processed a greater amount of ore than any month in many years, Atlas said. As a result of the mill's improved operating results, progress is being made in reducing the relatively small arrearage in the delivery of uranium concentrate to the company's utility customers, the company asserted.

---

EARNINGS LOWER

At Applied Data Research. Higher gross revenues but lower earnings for the March quarter have been reported by Applied Data Research, Inc., Route 206 Center.

President John R. Bennett listed revenues of $6,268, 677 for the three months ending March 31, and $4,550,642 for the same quarter in 1978. Earnings per share, however, were six cents this year and 29 cents a year ago.

In commenting on the results for the first quarter of 1979, Mr. Bennett said that despite a 38 percent increase in sales, profits for the period were down as a result of substantial losses in its newly-acquired Datacom Division and, to a lesser extent, planned research expenditures associated with the development of the new Cable TV product line.

Mr. Bennett indicated that both orders and billings in the first quarter of 1979 for the Company's Software Products Division continued at record levels. Orders received within this major division increased 43 percent and billings increased 28 percent compared with the first quarter of 1978.

Mr. Bennett further commented that he anticipates that the newly-acquired Datacom Division will operate profitably over the balance of 1979, and that the Cable TV Division will not be a significant factor in the Company's operating profit for the balance of the year.

NEW PASTOR NAMED

For St. Paul's Church. Bishop George W. Ahr has announced the transfer of Father Evasio F. DeMarcellis from the pastorate of Christ the King Church in Manville to the pastorate of St. Paul's Church on Nassau Street. The move is effective this Friday.

Father DeMarcellis will succeed Msgr John J. Endebrock who resigned the pastorate in February. Father Eugene D. Errickson who has been serving as temporary administrator of St. Paul's will remain there as associate pastor.

Father DeMarcellis was born in Riverside and prepared for the priesthood at St. Charles College, Catonsville, Md., and St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore. He was ordanined by Bishop Ahr in 1960.

After serving two years as associate pastor of St. Cecelia's Church in Iselin, Father DeMarcellis was given permission to continue his studies at the Pontifical Biblical Institute in Rome, from 1962 to 1964; at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem from 1964-76 and for the next year as a research student at the University of Copenhagen, Denmark.

---

In 1968 he returned as lecturer at the Hebrew University in the Department of Linguistics and Egyptology and at the University of Tel Aviv as a lecturer in its Institute of Archaeology. He returned to the Diocese of Trenton in 1975 and was assigned as associate pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Toms River until 1976, when he took over the Manville pastorate.

CEMETERY TOUR SET

By Nassau Church. There will be a walk through the older and historic portions of Princeton Cemetery on Sunday, sponsored by the Nassau Presbyterian Church.

The walk will begin after the 10 a.m. worship service. Participants will meet at the Greenview Avenue entrance for the tour, which will be led by Elmer Chase, chairman of the church's Cemetery Committee, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. William Evans.

Of particular interest is the Presidents' Plot near Wiggins Street. Here are buried all but four of the deceased presidents of Princeton University, among them Aaron Burr Sr., Jonathan Edwards, John Witherspoon, James McCosh and John Grier Hibben.

Not far off is the grave of Grover Cleveland, who lived in Princeton from 1897 until his death in 1908 and who ottended First (now Nassau) Presbyterian Church. Elsewhere in the older part of the cemetery are memorials to Paul Tulane, benefactor of Tulane University; Henry Van Dyke, preacher and author; Dean Andrew F. West and General Joseph Korge, the Polish patriot who became professor of modern languages at Princeton.

In case of rain, the tour will be held the following Sunday, June 3, after the 10 a.m. service.

EDITOR HONORED

By Dinner, Festschrift. Dr. Hugh T. Kerr, 707 Rosedale Road, editor of "Theology Today," was honored at a dinner celebrating the journal's 35th anniversary and publication of his Festschrift, "Our Life in God's Light" (Westminster Press, May 1979).

Mulder, assistant editor of the journal and Associate Professor of American Church History at Princeton Seminary.

"Theology Today" was launched in 1944 by Dr. John A. Mackay, then President of Princeton Seminary, who served as its first editor and contributed a preface to the Kerr Festschrift. Based on the Seminary campus, it sought originally to provide theological leadership to the Church and the culture from the perspective of the Reformed tradition. Over the years the scope of its articles has expanded to represent the concerns of the world-wide Christian community. Its

OBITUARIES

Dr. William T. Thom Jr., 87, Blair Professor of Geology Emeritus at Princeton University, died May 22 in an Ashland, Oregon, hospital after a long illness. A founder of the American Geological Institute, Prof. Thom joined the Princeton faculty in 1927, after a decade of government service, and retired from the University in 1956.

A native of Roanoke, Va., where he was born on June 9, 1891, Prof. Thom was graduated from Washington and Lee University in 1913 with the degree of bachelor of science in engineering. He received his doctor of philosophy degree from The Johns Hopkins University in 1917.

During World War I, Dr. Thom headed up the planning section of the United States Fuel Administration and subsequently served as chairman of key National Research Council committees. He was then, successively, chief of the coal section and of the fuels section (oil, gas and coal) of the U.S. Geological Survey in Washington.

While chairman of the Department of Geological Engineering at Princeton, Prof. Thom was instrumental in broadening the program of study in geology by augmenting teaching and laboratory projects with field trips, including much summer field work in the Far West.

His role in the establishment of the American Geological Institute in 1948 was as chairman of the committee charged with defining the standards for geological education in the United States. Dr. Thom's publications included "Petroleum and Coal, The Keys to the Future," and numerous U.S. Geological Survey reports and scientific articles. Significant among them was a paper on "Population in Relation to the Development of Energy from Oil and Gas" which was presented at the United Nations Conference on Population held in Rome in 1954.

In 1936, Prof. Thom was awarded an honorary doctor of science degree by his alma mater, Washington and Lee University, and the following year was designated the fourth incumbent of the Blair Professorship at Princeton.

During the years he lived in Princeton, Dr. Thom was an active member of Princeton Friends Meeting, serving at one time or another on almost all of the governing committees of Meeting. He was chairman of the committee that planned construction of the First Day School Building in the 1950s, and made substantial financial contributions to construction of the building.

He also served as a trustee of the corporation of Friends Meeting, which is the actual owner of the Meeting's real estate and investments. In the later years of his life, he wrote extensively on international events in the context of Quaker belief.

BIBLE SCHOOL PLANNED

At Westerly Road Church. Westerly Road Church offers to the children of the Princeton community, for one week annually, an opportunity to become better acquainted with the Bible. Last year, nearly 100 children participated in the Vacation Bible School program.

About one-half of those attending came from outside the church family, most of whom have returned year after year. Bible lessons taught with visual aids and a capable staff are the highlights of the five day school. Time is also spent in singing, crafts and recreation.

A special feature is a mother's Bible class held during the two hours of the pre-school session. The topic this year is "Waiting on the Lord" taught by Joyce Clutz, who has conducted many Bible studies with women. Another feature is that 6th-8th graders spend each day away from the church, taking trips to different locations in the area. They receive Bible instruction in an informal setting and have their own recreation.

Two sessions are being offered this year. Session I, for 4 and 5 year olds, is offered June 4-8, 9:30-11:30 a.m. The lessons will be from the Book of Daniel. The women's Bible class is conducted simultaneously.

Session II is for children entering grades 1 through 8 this September, held June 25-29, 9:30-1:45. A bag lunch is necessary for this session.

Westerly Road Church is located at 37 Westerly Road. Call 924-3816 for further information.

The Rev. John R. Bodo, former senior minister at First (now Nassau) Presbyterian Church, has written a new book, "A Gallery of New Testament Roges; from Herod to Satan," published in paperback by Westminster Press in Philadelphia.

This collection of essays examines a wide range of well-known and little-known figures who in some way represent a darker side of human nature shared by all. Combining scholarship with reasonable conjecture and interpretation, the author presents a popularly written series of word pictures of interesting characters, such as Herod the Great, John the Baptist, Zacchaeus, Judas, Pontius Pilate, John Mark, Philemon and Onesimus, among others.

Mr. Bodo is now a free-lance preacher, lecturer and writer

A BUYER'S MARKET? IN MAY?

Signs indicate that it's already a buyer's market: a large selection of houses on the market, with many owners becoming more anxious about selling. A major reason is difficulty with mortgage financing, a problem which we can help with. So, it's the ideal time to look for property; prices will never again be this low!

WHAT MAKES A REAL ESTATE SALE HAPPEN?

Most satisfactory sales are made by a real estate expert, one who can reach the right prospects, offering a house which has been properly appraised and marketed. The cost? An expert costs no more than a novice, sometimes less. Our record? Each of our recently sold properties has sold within 2% of the asking price. So call us—we are the experts!

Philip Cobb to Retire after 25 Years in Princeton Schools; Will Devote His Time to Directing Girls' Camp in Maine

"Phil Cobb retiring? But he's too young!"

Twenty-five years in the Princeton schools, as elementary classroom teacher and assistant principal, 52-year-old Phil Cobb is indeed retiring this year.

Or, to put it another way, he'll no longer be working in the Princeton schools. With his wife, Betty, he'll be spending full time and more, running the Cobb's Camp Runoia in Maine. And that means, of course, that he'll be leaving Princeton.

"It's been a marvelous 25 years – I've taken out more than I've ever been able to give. But I don't want to talk about myself or recall a lot of nostalgic things. I want to focus on things that can help the schools because, if we ever can make an effective change, it will be in Princeton – right here, where we have a chance to produce the model democratic school system.

"We've done a lot of very fine things here, but even more can be done -- Princeton should be a pilot district."

Began on Nassau Street. As lean and smiling now as he was then, Phil Cobb started out at the Nassau Street School where he taught fifth grade for four years. Then as assistant principal, and social studies teacher, he moved to the Quarry Street School, at that time the junior high of the old Borough system, and stayed there for ten years.

He moved again, 11 years ago, into the new John Witherspoon School, then an elementary school. It is now the district's middle school and he is the assistant principal.

"A highlight -- perhaps 'the' highlight -- of my 25 years was the time I spent at Quarry Street with Howard Waxwood."

(Mr. Waxwood, who died in 1977, was principal of Quarry Street and, at that time, the only black principal in Princeton.)

Ahead of this Time. "I learned so much, working those ten years with Howard. He was so far ahead of where most people of that time were in black-white relationships. He had such vision and such patience! That was a very fine school, under his leadership, and very exciting years for me."

---

The number of crises during the past quarter-century – the turbulence of the '60s and '70s, Sputnik -- serve for Phil Cobb as bases for thinking about the best ways to help kids.

"Kids' needs now are more complex," he believes. "The pressures on them to strive for excellence and to do well; pressures on parents, the lack of time they have to give kids, the school trying to do more and more to help.

"And the gigantic strides we've made!"

Progress Report. He recalls that, in the '50s, Princeton elementary schools had no librarian, no social worker, no disability specialist, no special help for kids at all, except a part-time nurse and part-time psychologist.

"Now we have a child-study team that looks at ways to help kids, whether their problems are serious or minor, and can develop IEPs for them (Individual Education Programs).

"Teachers are under more pressure now, too, with legal requirements making more demands. Under the law now, kids with special needs must be classified and special programs developed, for the gifted and talented, or kids who need help.

"A teacher works all day at a very demanding job, then corrects papers at home at night. Many people think it's easy, but it's not. And here at the Middle School, with kids from 11 to 14, the job is a very delicate one: you must treat kids with respect, yet demand they keep to certain limits. One minute, they're young adults; the next, they're just little kids."

A Great Age. "But it's so much fun! These kids, they're at the greatest age and that's what makes it so exciting, that's the meat of it."

When Phil Cobb first went to John Witherspoon, the school had 990 pupils, grades kindergarten through eight. "Wall'to-wall youngsters," he says and shakes his head. Today, there are 725 middle-schoolers. The building was designed for 750 in this age group.

Continuing to point out the complexity of today's school world, Mr. Cobb cites Federal and state laws on handicapped students, the requirement to prove that a school is providing a thorough and efficient education for each child, the need to assure equal rights and above all, the requirement that schools must monitor these things and submit reports on them.

"This makes the superintendent's job much more complex," Mr. Cobb believes. "Houston and Jennings (superintendent and his assistant) work extremely hard and, I think, effectively to solve the complex problems this district faces. There are additional demands -- and fewer dollars. The energy-level of the superintendent and his assistant in planning and thinking are very high and the skill and dedication of Bill Johnson (John Witherspoon principal), is also."

Duties Are Numerous. What, it is sometimes asked at school board meetings, does an assistant principal do all day? There is only one assistant at John Witherspoon.

Mr. Cobb works with teachers "to help them grow professionally and become better with kids, listening to their problems and watching what is going on."

---

He is responsible for discipline, although the principal shares in this, and for the day-to-day operation of the building. He blocks out schedules, places student teachers, interviews people for jobs, talks with parent and community groups.

"New things all the time!"

For High-level Achievers. Although John Witherspoon has no "gifted-talented" program as such, Mr. Cobb says the school does have "a very fine sophisticated, high-level program for high-achievers in advanced languages, mathematics, music.

A Middle School student who completes algebra in seventh grade may cross the street to the high school for geometry; those whose native language is Italian may want to study it at the high school; Italian is not given at John Witherspoon.

"At least one sixth-grader here is going to Princeton University for one course -- that's the exception, but it shows we try to plan programs for all the children. And if a child needs help, we can provide help in speech, help on a one-to-one basis in gym, remedial reading or math. There's a 'Math-a-letes' program for after-school hours."

"Down East." Now, about Maine.

Phil Cobb represents the fourth generation in his family of teachers and camp directors. He bought his own camp 20 years ago when it became apparent to him that his vigorous father, now 84, was certainly not about to retire and turn over the family camp to Phil.

"Runoia" means "Harmony" in the language of the Indians of that region. It's on Belgrade Lake, Maine, and it provides eight weeks of summer camp life for 75 girls, age 7 to 16.

Why does it take all year to run an eight-week summer camp? It takes two months to open and two months to close, as a start. The staff of 30 must be recruited, interviewed and hired; the program for the campers and the counsellor-in-training program for 16-18

University Seeking New Firm to Run Playhouse, One That 'Will Have Community's Needs in Mind'

A new firm to run the Playhouse may be chosen "in a month or six weeks," said Michael J. Feldman, assistant treasurer of Princeton University, this week.

Meanwhile, The daily Princetonian, student newspaper at the University, carried a story on Friday that the Sameric theatre chain plans to sue the University. According to the story, Sameric regards as libelous a statement in the Princeton Weekly Bulletin, house organ for the University, that Palmer Square, Inc., has released Sameric from its Playhouse lease and that Sameric will make payments which the University claims are owing under the lease.

Regarding the future of the Playhouse as a movie theatre, Mr. Feldman said, "We want to hire somebody who can give the Princeton community what it wants -- more turnover in films, lower prices, probably more second-run 'festival' kinds of films.

"We want somebody with business sense, who is sensitive to what the Princeton community wants," he said.

A Look at the Future. Summer Cinema, the McCarter series, is already lined up for Kresge Auditorium on the University campus. It probably will not be in the Playhouse, Mr. Feldman said, at least this summer.

When the Playhouse reopens, Mr. Feldman continued, PSI and the University will watch to see whether public support is firm enough to warrant the inclusion of a movie theatre into Palmer Square's plans.

Regarding a possible Sameric suit, Mr. Feldman said that so far, neither the University -- majority stockholder in PSI -- nor PSI nor K.S. Sweet Associates, the University's real estate consultants, had been told by Sameric that it might bring suit. The Sweet firm, Mr. Feldman said, telephoned Sameric last week, informing them that PSI had decided to release the theatre chain from its Playhouse lease and would not pursue the matter in court.

Sameric has claimed that the Playhouse lease ended March 31. The University, expecting plans for an expanded Palmer Square to move faster than they have, informed Sameric last fall that the lease would be terminated in six months because expansion plans call for tearing down the Playhouse.

Sameric to Run Garden. When municipal approvals were delayed, the University told Sameric that the situation had changed and that the lease would still be in effect.

Mr. Feldman also said that Sameric has agreed to pay what the University says it owes, and has paid all but "an insignificant part" of that amount. He said that Sameric will continue to operate The Garden theatre.

News Of The THEATRES

MORE TRIANGLE

Three More Performances. "Academia Nuts," the 90th annual Triangle Club musical, will be given in three performances at McCarter Theatre Reunion weekend.

On Friday, June 8, there will be a performance at 8:30 and on Saturday there will be two shows -- one at 8 and a final one at 10. Tickets are now at the box office.

Director Milton Lyon has the largest cast in Triangle history -- almost 80 -- including among its members the kickers in the classic and historic kick-line. This year, the kick-line has been interwined within another skit so that it catches the audience by surprise.

But in a departure from tradition, "Academia Nuts" has a choreographed second act called "Urban Reel," featuring the daily routines of businessmen, secretaries, policemen and law-breakers, all dancing against a Manhattan skyline.

"CLOSE ENCOUNTERS"

At McCarter. The current film season for McCarter will close with five showings of "Close Encounters of the Third Kind," to be screened at 8 and 10:15 p.m. this Thursday and Friday and this Saturday at midnight only.

The story involves a series of UFO appearances witnessed by Richard Dreyfuss, who plays the part of a midwestern power technician, and by Melinda Dillon and her young son, Cary Guffey, interspersed with their experiences are the maneuverings of a seemingly secret international team of military and scientific types, led by none other than the French director, Francois Truffaut.

The title comes from science jargon: sighting of a UFO is a close encounter of

Managing Director Named

Alison Harris, who was assistant to McCarter's general manager from 1969 to 1972, has been appointed Managing Director for the theatre. She will begin her new job on July 1, succeeding Edward A. Martenson.

Currently the administrator and assistant to the artistic director of the Long Wharf Theatre in New Haven, she has been associated with that theatre since leaving McCarter in 1972.

"Alison Harris has a proven record of excellence in theatre administration with a particular strength in fundraising," said Robert J. Paulus, president of the McCarter Theatre company in making the announcement this week.

Season subscriptions may be reserved by calling (215) 862-2041.

CASTING DATES LISTED

In the cast are Jack Maloney, Roselyn Gertman, Dave Whiteman, Missy Dugan, Ray Daikeler, Betty Beltz, Greg Rose, Penny Vine, Richard Terrell and Paula Mathews.

Following "The Music Man" will be Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma!" which somehow or other, has never before made it to the Playhouse. It will open June 12.

Films Listed for McCarter's 'Summer Cinema' Scheduled to Run from June 20 to August 26

Co-sponsored by McCarter Theatre and The Arts Council of Princeton, Summer Cinema will return to Kresge Auditorium (air-conditioned) on the University campus for the third year in a row.

The double-feature series will be given Wednesday through Sunday evenings for ten weeks, starting June 20 and continuing through August 26. W. W. Lockwood Jr., McCarter's film programmer, chose the films from the studios of France, Italy, Sweden, Spain and England, as well as the United States.

Single admissions will be $3 at the door. The usual Summer Cinema coupon book will be available. The ten discount coupons may he used any time, in any combination, for any program in the season, subject only to the availablility of seats.

Luis Bunoel's "Tristana" and Ingmar Bergman's "The Magic Flote" will open the season Wednesday, June 20.

Woody Allen's "Sleeper" and Stanley Kubrick's "2001," two quite different glimpses into the future.

"The Great Dictator" in which Charlie Chaplain himself plays the double role of a meek, Jewish harber, and Adenoid Hynkle, a devastating caricature of Adolph Hitler; and John Huston's "The Man Who Would Be King," a classic tale of old-fashioned adventuring starring Sean Connery and Michael Caine, set in 19th century India.

Fellini's "Satyricon," his orgy-filled odyssey through first century Rome; and Luchino Visconti's "The Damned," his study of corruption during the Nazi rise to power in Germany.

Truffaut's "Day for Night," his testament to the magic of movie-making; and "Singin' in the Rain," the classic American musical starring (and directed by ) Gene Kelly.

Bo Widerberg'a "Adalen '31," by the director of "Elvira Madigan," focusing upon the 1931 lahor strikes in Sweden; coupled with Paul Schrader's "Blue Collar," an American film with Richard Pryor, Harvey Keitel and Yaphet Kotto as three Detroit autoworkers.

John Ford's 1956 "The Searchers," with John Wayne as a frontier outlaw; and Antonioni's existentialist "The Passenger," starring Jack Nicholson as a washed-out journalist who exchanges identity with a dead man.

"Slap Shot," professional hockey with Paul Newman; and "Semi-Tough," with Kris Kristofferson and Burt Reynolds as a pair of professional football stars.

"Cabaret," with Liza Minnelli and Joel Grey; and "Seven Beauties," Lina Wertmuller's often grotesque black comedy.

Mike Nichols' "Carnal Knowledge," perhaps the first major American film to deal with sex and sexual mores in our modern times; and "Cousin, Cousine," an old-fashioned love story about two cousins-by-marriage whose friendship blossoms into love.

Discount coupon books and a hrochure giving complete program details and showtimes are now available from the McCarter Theatre box office, which is open from 12 noon to 5 p.m. daily Monday through Friday only.

...BY-THE-LAKE

In Two Summer Productions. Auditions for a production of the musical "Pippin," to be presented by the Theatre-by-the-Lake, Hightstown, will be held next Thursday and Friday, May 31 and June 1, in Geiger-Reeves Hall on the campus of The Peddie School, South Main and Ward Streets in Hightstown.

Auditions, to begin at 7 p.m., are open to the public. Performances will be July 6-7 and 13-14 in Geiger Reeves Hall, and rehearsals will he scheduled Mondays through Fridays.

This will be the seventh summer season for the Theatre-by-the-Lake, and artistic directors Thomas Cardea and Charles Lorimer joining for the first time founders Jeffrey R. Holcombe and Francis A. Towne, have instituted a policy change. Instead of the usual four productions, they will mount two "large, elaborate productions," they said in an announcement this week.

"Pippin," to be given at Peddie, will he one. The other, "West Side Story," will be presented in the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing State Park. (Auditions July 9-10, with production August 16-18 and 23-25.)

The directors have decided that if they can put all of their energies and creative talents into both productions, then both "Pippin" and "West Side Story" should be "one of the highest quality the organization has ever had."

Additional information may be obtained by writing Theatre-by-the-Lake, Jeffrey R. Holcombe, The Peddie School, Hightstown, N.J. 08520.

Nine Hours of Country Music Planned For Palmer Stadium Saturday, June 23

A nine-hour jamboree featuring ten of the country's most popular country music acts will occupy Palmer Stadium Saturday, June 23, under the auspices of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce.

The concert will begin at 10 a.m. and conclude at 7 p.m. Producer Marny Goodman says it will be the largest outdoor country music festival in the northeast this year.

Roy Clark, known as a superstar of country music, will lead off the list of celebrities appearing at the event. He plays nine instruments, including guitar, 12-string acoustic, banjo and fiddle and was named Instrumentalist of the Year by the Country Music Association in 1977 and 1978. CMA has also cited him as Entertainer of the Year and Comedian of the Year.

Other performers will be The Oak Ridge Boys, the Earl Scruggs Revue and Larry Gatlin. The Oak Ridge Boys won two CMA awards this year: Album of the Year and Top Vocal Group. Larry Gatlin, a 1976 Grammy Award winner for Best Country Song ("Broken Lady"), was well-known as a composer before he began a performing career four years ago.

The Scruggs Revue focuses on Earl Scruggs, often described as "undisputed king of the five-string banjo." He wrote "Foggy Mountain Breakdown" which country-music fans call "the anthem of bluegrass music and banjo-pickers everywhere."

Others in the line-up will be Con Hunley, Janie Fricke -- nominated as Best Female Country Vocalist in 1977 and 1978 -- Hoyt Axton, Mary K. Miller -- Number One New Female Artist, 1978 -- Rex Allen Jr. and Kelly Warren.

ART
In Princeton

CONTRASTS STIMULATE

On Works by Diane Hunt. The definition of art has undergone more alteration during the past century than at any other time in the history of visual imagery. The daring, innovative changes made by the impressionists were followed fast and furiously by school after school of artists who sought new ways to alter the nature of the image in order to expand the range of their statements.

Pointillists, fauves, cubists, dadaists, expressionists and abstract expressionists came, one after another, bending, distorting and inventing, until the classical form that had once been the goal of the artist now became the object of derision.

In the constant search for new modes of artistic expression, nothing has seemed quite so radical as the product of the conceptual artist. In conceptual art what one sees is secondary at best. Influencing what the viewer thinks and how he reacts is the primary goal of the artiat. Often, in this form of art, a great many words accompany the image in order to direct the viewer to the conceptual plane that the artist has considered. Equally often, the juxtaposition of unlikely images, techniques or materials is employed to produce the some effect.

The prints and drawings by Diane Hunt that are now on display at the Graphic Arts Collection of the Princeton University Library are among the conceptual works that project messages through unusual combinations of both content and form. Photographic images provide the basic structure for these innovative prints.

Black and white and color photography are frequently combined in one work which is then altered by linear additions, printed material, frames within fromes, fragmented imagery and the occasional addition of calligraphy.

The artist employs both visual and conceptual contrasts within the individual print as stimuli for the viewer. Black and white photo landscapes are interrupted by linear forms and then presented in combination with multicolor photographs which are superimposed upon other images.

A collection of drawings by the artist explores spatial problems similar to the elements in some of the prints. Photographs are altered by the introduction of color. Landscape is intruded upon by active linear additions and, in some of the works, color and line interact without the addition of any form whatsoever.

A collection of handcast paperworks by Zarina is also on display at the Graphics Collection. The exhibition, entitled "Fragments of My Wall" includes several finely crafted paper works that focus upon the development of pattern and texture using a single repeated geometric form. Circles of varying diameter, rectangles and regular and irregular squares are explored as design sources.

The values created by the repetition of form and the negative-positive aspect of the cast surface create interesting, often pleasing, effects. The artist has similar works in different tones of paper using black, white and terra cotta.

At the Nassau Gallery. At a time when innovation in graphics seems to be valued as much for its own sake as for a means of artistic expression, it is rare to find an artist pursuing a collection of images by using formal, traditional techniques. An exhibition of etchings by Jessica Gwynne demonstrates that traditional materials and methods, expertly applied, are no limitation to the competent artist.

Aquatint is used to develop rich tonalities, rich soft ground textures and fine line are combined in a series of figurative prints. Dancers, contemplative figures, symbolic groupings of people and figures in architectural settings are expertly and sensitively rendered. Gwynne uses tonal areas to create mass and develops darks and lights to create great depth and movement within the structure of the prints.

At Gallery 100. New editions of Gourmet Graphics by Pamela Sinkler and metal intaglios and other new prints by Elizabeth Monath are featured. Sinkler uses classical etching techniques developed in a personal manner. She employs realistic portrayals of vegetables and fruit using colored, silhouetted forms which are printed as repeats or in combination with other shapes. She also applies this approach to a series of seashells and sea creatures.

Elizabeth Monath has developed several series of intaglio collographs, a graphic form in which the printing plates are constructed of a combination of materials. Included is a nature series in which the artist uses natural materials as a basis for her printing plates and then sets her images on metallic surfaces as well as paper.

Art in Princeton

A series of architectural vignettes called "Remembered Towns" offers multicolored views of places this artist has visitied. They are interestingly structured, pleasingly composed works that join literal imagery with designed forms.

The Gallery At Home (24 Witherspoon). Clay works by Ann Tsubota and fiber hangings by Judith Halpern Palmiter are featured for May. Palmiter's work is an unusual cross-cultural blend of traditional forms. Quilted hangings are worked with the fine craft that one is accustomed to find in American quilts, and that is formally demonstrated in one work in the classic log cabin pattern. However, the majority of the hangings are created from fragments of silk from Japanese kimonos. They are then stitched to create linear patterns resembling those found in the formal Japanese raked sand and pebble gardens.

Porcelain bowls and other works by Ann Tsubota are notable for their soft glazes in muted tones of purple and blue. These delicately colored, formally shaped pieces avoid the hard, slick look of much of the contemporary porcelains and, instead, offer a sense of the artist's feelings about her clay and her craft.

A variety of vegetable salads, cottage cheese and relishes is available, and delectable desserts such as cookies, cakes, pastries and carob brownies are fresh from the oven. Juices, milk, bottled water, honeyed sodas and yogurts can be selected from a refrigerated case.

The new delicatessen practices the philosophy of healthful nutrition that is the foundation for The Whole Earth Center. Eastablished nine years ago, this non-profit organization began with a grant from concerned people in the community who wanted an alternative to foods prepared with additives and preservatives, and who wished to promote a natural way of life in harmony with the environment.

In addition to its emphasis on organically grown or natural foods, the Center also stresses ecological concerns, supporting anti-nuclear activities and educating the community in the use of alternate sources of energy, organic gardening and conservation practices through seminars, a book corner and files of information.

SERVICE AND A SMILE are offered by Marilyn Gerreto (left) and Tanya Metz at The Whole Earth Center's new delicatessen. They prepare salads and sandwiches from natural ingredients for take-out 11 to 5 Tuesdey through Saturday. Whole-grain breads for the sandwiches and cakes and cookies are baked at the Center.

Donations of both hard and soft cover books may be brought in during the next few weeks. The library points out that older textbooks and Reader's Digest condensed books are not popular sale items and are appreciated more by hospitals and other service organizations. It is important that books have all pages as well as their covers securely attached.

Posters have been made by Brownie Troop 678 advertising the sale and will be in stores and other businesses all over the Valley.

Story Time continues on Tuesday mornings from 10 to 10:30, for preschool children. The Library is in the process of setting up the summer movie schedule and is looking for people who are willing to do summer programs for the children on Wednesday afternoons. Those who have a hobby or specialty to share with the Library may call 737-0404 between 10 and 5. We hope to have some programs on foreign countries -- loans of films, slides, artifacts, costumes or cooking skills would also be welcome for the Summer International Festival.

PHS Sophomore Clears Bar at 6-8 in High Jump As Little Tigers Win Conference Track Title

Led by Peter Sharpless' glittering 6-8 record in the high jump, the Princeton High School track team set four more Monday at the West Windsor track to win the Colonial Valley Conference championship with 56 points.

West Windsor was second with 52½, while Hopewell Valley, the CVC champion the last two years, was fourth with 32 – eight points behind third-place Hightstown.

John Kellogg, Princeton High's premier distance runner, set CVC marks in the mile of 4:28 and two-mile of 9:52.7. Sharpless, the area's high jump sensation, who had set a goal of 6-8 by the end of the season, reached it on his first try. He bettered the previous CVC record of Hopewell Valley's Jim Steen by six inches.

Sharpless, a sophomore in his first year of competition, then missed three times with the bar set at 6-10. His 6-8 tied the all-time county mark (held by Steen) and is just one inch off the all-state sophomore record set in 1977.

Perkins Wins 880. There was more to come. Sophomore John Perkins ran the 880 in 1:58.5, another CVC record, to edge teammate Brad Ogilvie (2:01.4) who held the old record of 2:02.3, and Mark Knudsen, co-captain of the PHS team with Ogilvie, won his specialty, the pole vault, with a record 13-6.

One of the turning points, in PHS coach Marc Anderson's view, was sophomore Paul Miles (is there any wonder why Anderson is looking forward to the next two years) upsetting top-seeded Trey Conte in the 100-yard dash. Miles was timed in 10.2 to nip Conte by a fifth of a second.

Conte came back to win the 220 -- one of three West Windsor firsts – shading Miles, 22.9 to 23.1. Tom Smart of PHS finished second in the mile and Jeff Marshall and Dwight Bullock were third respectively in the 100 and long jump.

Kellogg's 4:28 mile bettered the old mark of 4:29.6 set in 1977 by Paul Shivers of Hopewell Valley and his two-mile effort was almost 17 seconds faster than the previous record of 10.09.5 set in 1977 by Mark Kelley. Knudsen's 13-0 in the vault was six inches higher than the previous mark set in 1977 by Hal Solberg of Hopewell Valley.

PHS 84, Allentown 47. In a dual meet last week, in which Sharpless jumped 6-6¼ to break the PHS record for the fourth time this season, Princeton High won easily over Allentown, 84-47.

The Little Tigers almost swept the field events against Allentown. Eric Vieland won the discus and the javelin, Mark Knudsen the pole vault and Jeff Marshall the long jump (20-2½). Only in the shot put where Vieland was second and Gabe Sasso third did PHS fail to win in the field.

In racing events, John Kellogg continued his dominance in the two-mile, winning in 9:59.3. Sophomore John Perkins captured the mile in 4:49.2 to lead a PHS sweep, Marshall's time of 54.7 led a PHS sweep of the 440 and Tom Smart finished second in the 880 with teammate Jean Snijders, third.

Paul Miles, Marshall, Smart and Brad Ogilvie combined to win the mile relay in 3:38.6. Allentown's losing time in the event of 3:40.9 set a school record. Allentown won both hurdle events and both dashes.

The previous day, as the only entry from PHS in the annual Mercer County Track and Field Championships held at Hamilton High, Sharpless won the high jump with a 6-4 effort. His closest competitors, Mike Hickey of Hamilton and Lawrence's Brian Brodowski each cleared 6-2. Steinert won the 10-team team championship with 106½ points; PHS was on the bottom with 10.

SPORTS FANS
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to You by John Barnard

There's one baseball record that few fans appreciate -- but the more you think about it the more amazing it becomes ... That's the record for most games won by a pitcher in big league history, set by Cy Young, who won 511 games in his career in the early 1900s ... Now to appreciate how hard it is to win 511 games, consider this fact: It's difficult for any pitcher to win 20 games in any one year; few pitchers ever win 20 games in 3 or 4 or 5 different seasons, but to win 511 games, as Cy Young did, you'd have to AVERAGE OVER 20 WINS A YEAR, EVERY YEAR, FOR 25 YEARS! ... That's why that's an amazing record and why no one else has ever come close.

I bet you didn't know ... that many health insurance plans including Blue Cross-Blue Shield do not cover children after they are 19 years old.

Ever wonder why the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race got started in Indianapolis -- and not some other city? ... It's not generally known today, but when the Indianapolis track was built in 1909, the city of Indianapolis was at that time a center of the auto industry with many of the auto manufacturers located there ... Those early auto people wanted a proving ground for their nearby factories, and so the track was built in Indianapolis.

TENNIS UNDER WAY

Tigers Playing In Georgia. The Princeton University men's tennis team, ranked 12th nationally, and the owner of a perfect 13-0 regular season record, is competing in the 16-team NCAA tennis team championships at the University of Georgia in Athens.

Princeton, which compiled a perfect 9-0 Eastern Association record to capture its sixth straight title, was invited as the number one team in the Eastern regional district. Last year the Tigers lost to California-Berkeley, 8-1, in the first round.

---

They fared considerably better on Monday, ousting fifth-seeded Arkansas, 5-4. The outcome hinged on the first doubles match, which Jay Lapidus and Leif Shiras won, 6-2, 6-7, 7-6. Earlier, Lapidus had recorded a 6-1, 6-3 triumph over the Arkansas no. 1 singles player, Rich Cowdon.

Stanford, seeded fourth, was the Tigers' next opponent. Following the team competition, championships will be held in singles (64-player draw) and doubles (32-team draw). Lapidus and Shiras, both sophomores, and co-captain Steve Meister, a junior, all qualified for the singles, with Lapidus and Shiras also earning a berth in doubles play.

PRINCETON DOMINATES

In Junior Track Meet. The Princeton Recreation Department's track team dominated the District AAU Junior Olympic Meet held last week at Palmer Stadium. It won 17 firsts, eight seconds and a handful of thirds.

In the nine and under category, Sharon Thompson was first in the standing long jump, Steven Davis took two firsts in the 10 and 11 age division by sailing 12'5½" in the long jump and 4'1½" in the high jump. Debbie Killar won the shot put. In the 12-13s, Toni McDowell won the girl's high jump, P.J. Young the boy's shot put and Stephan Fletcher leaped 19'3" in the long jump to set a meet record.

PRD took firsts in five of six 440-yard relay races. The Bantam girls team was comprised of Milena Rosenblum, Rebecca Royal, Kathy Henning and Tory Crimmins. On the 10-11 team were Tika Liverman, Erika Gabrielson, Gretchen Jantz and Helena Wronski. Paige Walden, Allison Fraker, Alyson Brandt and Kim Johnson comprised the girls junior team.

Running for the boys "Midget" relay were David Haynes, Fred Young, Scott Fisher and David Bush. Kyle Stephens, Terrence Phox, Jerry Ingram and Stephan Fletcher ran on the 12-13 relay team. Paul Crystal captured the boys bantam 50 yard dash. David Bush and Tika Liverman won the 10-11 50-yard dash, and in the half-mile, Erica Gabrielson triumphed. In the 12-13 bracket Allyson Brandt won the 440 and Melanie Nosal the mile.

Second place finishers were Nicole McBaugh, Chris Hunt, Gretchen Jantz, Kim Johnson, Jerry Ingram, Jennifer Murphy and Tom Haggerty.

Individual winners and winning relay teams will next compete in the state AAU Junior Olympic Meet to be held Saturday, June 16 in Cranford.

PDS NEEDS TWO WINS

To Finish at .500. A 5-1 loss to Peddie last week has dropped the record of the Princeton Day baseball team to 5-7, with two games remaining this season, a contest with Trenton High on Wednesday and a make-up game with Pingry to be scheduled sometime this week.

The Panthers need to win both to finish at the .500 mark and avoid a losing season, their first in seven years, and the first ever for coach Tim DeVito in 10 years of coaching baseball at Princeton Day and elsewhere.

Last Wednesday's defeat by Peddie, was typical of others this spring, where the Panthers' errors almost equalled their hits. They were limited to just three safeties by the Peddie hurler, and comitted two miscues in the field.

According to DeVito, the opposing pitcher had nothing on the ball but his hand, but some good fielding by the Peddie defense at crucial moments helped save the day.

Peddie took a three-run lead in the second, two of the tallies coming on a passed ball that rolled so far away that a runner from second scored behind the one from third. On the mound for the Blue and White, Tony Dell gave up seven hits.

PDS got its lone run in the third when Joe Lapsley singled, stole second and stopped at third on a line single by Evan Press. Lapsely then scored on a sacrifice fly by Jay Nusblatt. Press doubled to lead off the game, but was out when he was judged to have left second base too soon after a fly ball to the outfield.

PLAYOFF DECIDED

In Springdale Golf. After postponing the 18-hole playoff for the McGraw Tournament once because of rain, Jim Litvack and Rob Hargraves opposed Kemp Roll and John Murray Saturday morning on the Springdale golf course in more rain. The teams had tied in the 36-hole medal play event a fortnight earlier with better-ball-of partners net 131s.

Last week, the Roll-Murray pair was victorious with a net 69, three strokes better than Litvack and Hargraves could shoot. For Hargraves, however, there was a measure of consolation: next day, he played on the team which won the mixed foursome tournament over 18 holes.

PHS GIRLS LOSE

In Softball. The Princeton High School girls softball team dropped two games last week, its most recent an 18 to 10 setback Monday at the hands of St. Anthony.

The victors pounded out 18 hits off losing pitcher Cindy Burrough, scoring in every inning but one. The Little Tigers had six hits and six errors.

Last week, once-defeated Steinert posted a 7-1 victory for its 12th win. Held to five hits, Princeton scored its only run in the third after Steinert had scored three in the first. Ann Almgren, who gave up 11 hits, was charged with the loss.

---

CVC TITLE CLINCHED

By PHS Net Team. Princeton High School, which has won every Colonial Valley Conference tennis title since the formation of the league, clinched another Monday when it blanked St. Anthony, 5-0.

The Little Tigers (15-2) were overpowering. Singles players Scott Clark, Richard Diefenderfer and Roger Dinella and the number one doubles of Jonathan Drabek and Andrew Goodyear all won, 6-0, 6-0. Abe Witonsky and Seth Thaler won, 6-4, 6-1.

PDS LOSES 13-4

In Lacrosse. Princeton Day lacrosse coach Bob Krueger needed just one sentence to summarize his team's 13-4 loss to Johnson Regional last Wednesday: "We never got off the bus."

Johnson Regional, blessed with three exceptional players, but not a particularly strong team overall, had lost earlier contests to Pingry and Livingston, both of whom PDS had beaten.

---

The home team scored to open the game in just seven seconds, as much time as it took to win the face-off, run down field and shoot. They added more goals, leading 4-1 at one point and then 6-3 at the half.

---

It was all Johnson Regional after intermission, as the winners scored seven times to just once for the Panthers. "They controlled the ball most of the time," Krueger commented. "I think they won every face-off."

Mike Shannon turned in another fine game for the Blue and White, scoring three out of four goals, Tom von Oehsen had the other.

PHS VS. MONTCLAIR

In State Lacrosse Tourney. "We're alive and kicking. We have a whole brand new season ahead of us," said a jubilant Bill Cirullo, the Princeton High lacrosse coach, last week after his team had routed Moorestown, 12-2, in the final game of the regular season.

What had Cirullo and the Little Tigers clicking their heels was their participation in the prestigious four-team Coaches' Tournament and also in the eight-team NJSIAA state tournament. In the latter, PHS with a 6-5 overall record, is seeded sixth.

PHS will play third-seeded Montclair Thursday in Montclair. Last year's state champion, Montclair (10-4) is coming on strong, reported Cirullo, and just knocked off highly-rated Boonton.

What are Princeton's chances? "I say if we have a good ballgame, we can beat Montclair," predicted Cirullo. "But we have to have a good 40-minute game. We've been inconsistent in our offensive and defensive play."

Montclair will be poised, added Cirullo, who noted that the perennial state power has been in the playoffs "the last umpteen years." Should PHS get by Montclair, it will meet the winner of the Boonton-Livingston game in the semis.

Top Four Teams. The Coaches' Tournament is comprised of the two top teams in each of the two leagues in the state. In the Pitt League, where PHS finished on top last year, the Little Tigers were second with a 5-2 record behind undefeated Lawrencevill, 7-0 and 13-0 overall.

In the Fitch League, undefeated Columbia, this year's top-ranked team, and Montclair finished 1-2.

The Little Tigers had no trouble with Moorestown in their finale. "It's nice to win that big," allowed Cirullo, "but they were very weak."

Bo Rice led the PHS attack with four goals, while Bob Flippin and Tom Lion had three each. Lion also added three assists.

The thought of a "second-season" really has his team "psyched-up," Cirullo said, and he left no doubt that he and his players intend to make the most of it.

TRACK MEET SATURDAY

In West Windsor. The twice-delayed track and field meet sponsored by the West Windsor-Plainsboro School District, the West Windsor Lions Club and Sears Roebuck will be held Saturday at the high school track at 9. All youths 9 to 13 living in West Windsor or Plainsboro are eligible.

---

Because of the postponements, the Lions are looking for assistance in judging and time keeping. For further information, call 799-0344 or 443-5917.

Rowing Trials on Lake

Men seeking to represent this country in rowing in the Pan American Games, to be held this summer, will compete on Lake Carnegie for three days this weekend.

Competition will be limited to single sculls, with pairs and fours due here from June 15-17. Heats will begin Saturday morning at 8, with repechage races at 6, semi-finals Sunday morning at 10 and finals Monday at 8.

Key Figures in 2-1 PHS Baseball Win over Hun

Jim O'Neill
He liked what he saw

Chuck Kohli
His hit started it

Brent Robinson
His defense helped win it

Judd Petrone
He pitched a one-hitter

FINAL TWO GAMES

For PHS Nine. "We need to end on a good, positive note," commented Princeton High baseball coach Jim O'Neill last week, after his team had edged Hun School, 2-1, behind a Judd Petrone one-hitter.

The win was number five for the Little Tigers and that alone guaranteed the second best season in O'Neill's four years at the helm. More encouraging to O'Neill, it means that his sophomore-dominated team is gaining the experience in winning it needs -- it also edged Hightstown, 5-4, last week, scoring three runs in the last inning to win its first Colonial Valley Conference game.

It also means that PHS can play .500 ball during May. That was one of O'Neill's goals after a poor start, which saw the team lose six of eight in April.

There is not enough left of the schedule, however, to turn the season around. Presently 5-10-1, the Little Tigers will close with back-to-back home games, playing Ewing on Wednesday and West Windsor on Thursday. Both will start at 3:45.

Petrone vs. Bevilacqua. A pair of hard-throwing fastballers, Anthony Bevilacqua of Hun and Petrone of PHS, making his first start in nearly a month after being sidelined with a foot injury, locked horns Thursday on the Hun diamond. Each was stingy with hits, Petrone allowing only one -- a single by Tommy Zahn in the fourth, which didn't figure in the scoring -- and three by Bevilacqua.

There were more errors than hits in the contest, which PHS won, 2-1, in the final inning. Ironically, it was the PHS defense which fashioned four double-plays that turned it Princeton's way.

Particularly outstanding was the play of sophomore shortstop Brent Robinson who had his finest day in the field. His teammates like to call Robinson "Brooks." Against Hun it was more than just a token salute; he earned it.

One of O'Neill's pre-season decisions was to shift Robinson from third to short and in the early going he must have questioned the move. "He must have made six errors in the first six games; he's made only one or two since," said O'Neill.

"Today he was on top of everything. It was the first time he's initiated a double play," added O'Neill, who was referring to a DP in the fifth -- the defensive play of the game -- in which Robinson charged Greg Otto's grounder to double Rich Londia at second and nip Otto at first.

Hun scored its only run in the second. Dave Reed could not find the handle on Otto's grounder to second, and, on his knees, he threw wide past first baseman John Kandell. The error allowed Angelo Barbero, who had walked, to come all the way around.

Double Error on Hun. In the fourth, PHS tied it with an unearned run of its own. After Robinson had walked, Mike Santoro grounded to Barbero at third, but the former catcher threw wild to second. When the ball also got past the right fielder, Robinson came home, Santoro winding up at third.

O'Neill signaled a safety squeeze. Petrone missed the bunt and Santoro was caught in a run down. "He was too anxious; you can't go until the ball comes off the bat," commented O'Neill.

The DP in the fifth and a fine play by third baseman Frank Whittaker on Arvie Powell's hard smash in the sixth kept Hun at bay. With one down in the sixth, Robinson, who is batting over .300, got Princeton's first hit and stole second. Santoro, however, lined to second and Robinson was doubled off.

Chuck Kohli led off with a single up the middle to start the PHS seventh. Petrone singled Kohli to third and Jeff

Bergman, pinch running for Petrone, stole second. Pinch-hitter John Sapoch grounded out but Bergman was caught in a run down which Hun misplayed, sending Kohli home with the winning run.

"Let's go now and hang onto it," implored O'Neill. Dave Wheaton skied out but Petrone hit Barbero with a pitch. Landis then grounded to Reed who flipped to Robinson who tossed Landis out at first for a game-ending twin killing.

While O'Neill singled out the defensive play and pitching, he added: "if the base running doesn't come around, I'll be an old man."

Intimidated. The previous day, PHS lost a 10-1 decision to Steinert, which scored five runs in the first for its tenth win in 13 games. Princeton managed only four hits (Kohli, Robinson, Santoro and John Keaney) and were guilty of six errors. Princeton's lone run came on two walks and Keaney's double in the fifth.

"We were intimidated," said O'Neill. Peter Krasnoff took the loss for PHS.

Still earlier in the week, PHS seemed headed for its tenth straight league loss when it trailed Hightstown, 4-2, going into the last half of the final inning. But the Rams couldn't hold it.

Kendall walked and Petrone followed with a pinch single. Both scored on Hightstown errors to tie it and then Santoro singled home Reed, who bad reached base on a fielder's choice, with the winning run.

Matt Kahny picked up the win. Robinson and Greg Hamer each had two hits for PHS, which outhit the Rams, 8-6.

PHS OUSTS VOORHEES

In State Tennis Tourney. Blanking Voorhees, 5-0, Thursday, the Princeton High School tennis team took another step closer to the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group 2 championship.

Voorhees (7-2) had advanced to its second-round match against Princeton High with a victory over South River, while the Little Tigers, top-seeded, had drawn a bye.

"I thought everyone played exceptionally well," remarked PHS coach Joe Diefenbach. "Everyone was up for the match. I just hope it continues."

The Little Tigers did not lose a single set. Scott Clark won the number one singles, 6-2,6-1, while Richard Diefenderfer and Roger Dinella followed with 6-4, 6-2, and 6-1, 6-0, triumphs.

In doubles play, Andy Goodyear and Jon Drabek won, 6-0, 6-3, while the number two pairing of Abe Witonsky and Seth Thaler won, 6-0, 6-2.

TOURNAMENT SET

In Women's Lacrosse. Women lacrosse players from throughout the country will gather in Lawrenceville this weekend for the 48th National Women's Lacrosse Tournament. Games will be played on the Lawrenceville School field.

The defending national champion is the Philadelphia First Team. A total of 23 teams will be competing for that title. Each team is comprised of all-star selections from six regional districts and California. Players from New Jersey and New York will play on the treee teams to be selected from the Central District.

In addition to deciding the National Champion, the National Tournament is the occasion when the USWLA selects players for the United States squad, equivalent to an all-American team. The United States squad will face the current international champion, the All-England Team, when the British tour this country next year.

Two of the major games at this year's National Tournament will be Philadelphia I versus New England I, to be played at 12:30 on Saturday, and South I versus Philadelphia I on Sunday. Ticket prices are $2 daily ticket or $4 for all three days.

Soccer on Sunday

For the second Saturday in a row, all intra-leauge games of the Nassau Soccer Association were postponed because of rain.

As a result, in addition to regularly-scheduled games on Saturday, all leagues will play makeup games on Sunday to determine final standings. Players should report at the same place and times as on Saturday mornings unless notified otherwise by their coach.

HUN BATS SILENT

As Raiders Lose Three. "In 26 innings, we had just seven hits. Our bats just died all of a sudden -- at the wrong time of the year."

On the receiving end of this impotence at the plate mentioned by coach Bill McQuade was the Hun School baseball team. As a result, it lost three games, two by one run. "In high school ball," continued a philosophical McQuade, "you never can tell when they're going to hit the ball, when they're going to catch it."

The Hun schedule has been disrupted so much by the weather and tournament play that it is hard to say with any certainty who Hun will play next. It is scheduled to oppose Gill-St. Bernards here Wednesday in a makeup game and Lawrence High in Lawrence Township on Tuesday.

Ousted From Tournament. The biggest lost suffered by Hun last week came at the hands of Peddie in the semi-final round of the NJSIAA Division A Prep School Tournament. Hun had defeated Peddie, 12-5, earlier in the season in regular play and entered the contest with a 9-4 record. On the mound was its undefeated hurler Arvie Powell.

Peddie won, 8-0, as Falcon pitcher Shawn Lachappelle slammed the door on Hun, tossing a two-hitter. "Peddie dominated, they deserved to win," agreed McQuade. "You don't mind losing when the other team plays so well and you can't complain when your own players have given 100 percent."

Only Powell, who was tagged with his first loss in five decisions, and catcher Rich Landis hit safely for Hun. Peddie reached Powell for 13 hits, scoring two runs in the fourth, two in the fifth and three in the sixth.

12-Inning Loss. The next day, Hun battled Blair Academy for 12 innings, only to lose a squeaker, 2-1. "It was a big, big letdown after the loss to Peddie; it took a lot out of us," commented McQuade.

Both teams scored one run in the first inning. From then on, Hun had runners in scoring position in almost every inning, reported McQuade, "but nothing came out of it." In the 12th, Blair scored an unearned run on a dropped fly and a suicide squeeze that bounced over the first baseman's head.

"It was the longest game since I've been here," said McQuade. Keith Duvin went all the way for Hun, striking out nine.

There was more to come. On the very next day, Hun lost again, 2-1, to town rival Princeton High as the Little Tigers' Judd Petrone held Hun to one hit. "I thought we played better than they but a few mistakes cost us," said McQuade.

The turning point, he felt,

year olds must both be planned.

"Most of our staff has been trained by us," he says – "all but the cooks, the nurse, horseback-riding counsellor, and so on."

All Kinds of Activities. Horses, archery, white-water, ocean trips, sailing, Red Cross safety, crafts, drama ... "and we're the only camp east of the Mississippi with paddle-tennis!"

Yes, the Cobbs will live year 'round in Maine, where there are three, four feet of snow all winter. Yes, there's a wood-burning stove with 20 cord of wood already on the ground. No, it's not yet winterized, but that's ahead on the schedule.

And it's back to the kids ...

"We run the schools for the students, and we should always get better at helping students grow. We're so lucky here at the Middle School, to have such a fine group of young people. Problems, because they're adolescents, but such tremendous talents!"

–Katharine H. Bretnall

Cobb on McPherson: 'Greatest Person We've Ever Had in Princeton System'

"I think," said Phil Cobb, measuring out his words carefully, "I think Phil McPherson was the greatest person we've ever had in the Princeton school system."

"That shouldn't be interpreted as a reflection on Paul Houston, who is a very talented young man, trying constantly to increase the effectiveness of the whole staff. But he hasn't been here long, and I worked with Phil McPherson for ten years."

Philip McPherson, superintendent of Princeton's schools for ten years, was a highly controversial figure in the community. He resigned in 1976.

"The school board and certainly the public, never understood Phil and he never thought he needed to explain himself," Mr. Cobb continued. "What he believed in was giving people full rein for their own creativity.

"If they failed or made a mistake, they'd say 'Well, I'll never do that again.' But when they achieved success, through exercise of their own creativity, they were inspired to build on that success. I know – I saw it work."

HOW'S YOUR TENNIS?

Brochure Has the Answer. How do you rate in tennis? A brochure describing the new National Tennis Rating Program is now available for the asking from the Princeton Community Tennis Program, 71 University Place.

Developed by the National Tennis Association in cooperation with the United Sates Professional Tennis Association and the United States Tennis Association, the rating program is designed to provide a quick and easy method for classifying tennis players by ability. It should help recreational players find compatible skill levels for group lessons, league play, round robins and tennis parties.

Using simple guidelines, players rate their ability on 13 different skill levels. The brochure includes a definition of each category, guidelines for self-placement and a wallet-sized card on which an individual's rating may be entered.

Teachers in the Community Tennis Program are using the system in their spring classes, and plan to incorporate the ratings for adults in summer classes. With summer lessons beginning June 11, players may benefit by going to the Tennis Office at 71 University Place to pick up a free copy. For more information on summer class registrattion, call 924-4343.

came in the seventh when pinch runner Jeff Bergman made a base-running error and was caught in a run down. Had Hun third baseman Angelo Barbero thrown the ball back to his second baseman, they would have had Bergman and possibly turned pinch-hitter John Sapoch's grounder into a triple play. Chuck Kohli of PHS scored the winning run, however, as Barbero was in the process of chasing Bergman back to second.
